NO REAL TARIFF REVISION

Leaders Have Agreed to Put Off Real Work Until After March 4.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1920)

Washington.—The days of the "pop gun" tariff bills are here again, but this time the republicans instead of the democrats are planning to bombard the White House with tariff measures they know cannot possibly get executive approval.

Unquestionably there is a clamor for tariff revision and it comes from scattered sections of the country where economic theory and economic fact are at odds and the producers feel that a tariff will help them against foreign competition. But the republican party which controls both houses of congress has always been the party of tariff protection and it has been impossible to answer the demand for tariff legislation by simply saying President Wilson would not permit tariff proposals to become law. So the republicans have about decided to square themselves with their constituents and demonstrate that the White House is the real obstacle after all.

Some of the tariff measures being proposed have been so hastily conceived that if President Wilson did not sign some of them, there would be a shock around the country. For the republicans frankly do not expect Mr. Wilson to sign protectionist measures any more than the democrats expected Mr. Taft to approve them in the fall of 1911 when the democrats had obtained possession of the house and began to fire "pop-gun" tariff bills at Mr. Taft with tariff duties reduced to some unworkable minimums. Indeed, it is interesting to recall that when the democrats obtained full possession in 1912 of all branches of the government, including the executive, they did not offer the same set of tariff bills upon which they had forced Mr. Taft's veto but an entirely new set, much more carefully considered and carrying a higher scale of duties.

Nothing Promised

Another interesting sidelight on the situation is that the people who really have sponsored most of the protective measures in recent years do not regard the present tariff discussion seriously. Their lobbyists aren't even on the job. The truth is the republicans had a genuine understanding that nothing would be attempted in the present session of congress and notification to that effect was conveyed to all the interests affected. However, the farmers came to Washington and through their numerous organizations started the present tariff agitation in the hope that something immediate might be done to cure the financial crisis in the agricultural world. Manufacturing interests of the east are not a bit pleased over the invasion by the farmers and secretly hope the whole tariff effort will be blocked at this session of congress.

It is pointed out, for instance, by manufacturers who don't want the kind of tariff proposed, that the farmers are inconsistent in demanding the revival of the war finance corporation to finance the export of farm products while at the same time they would impose a tariff amounting to an embargo on the importation of farm products. It is insisted that by reciprocity alone can foreign trade be stimulated and that the rates of exchange will not improve until America manifests more of a give and take-spirit in making tariff duties.

The whole question of reciprocal trade measures is expected to be revived as a consequence of the abnormal trade conditions. Otherwise the

NEW BERN PLANT GIVEN TO WORKERS

Factory Is Socialized to Prove That Salaries Must Be Reduced.

By United Press Leased Wire
New Bern, N. C.—Officials of the New Bern Iron and Supply works have socialized their plant to prove to the workmen the company's contention it cannot be operated at a profit without a reduction of 20 per cent. When employees recently refused to accept the reduction and expressed disbelief that such a step was necessary, W. A. McInosh, the owner, proposed turning the plant over to them. They accepted the following plan now effective:

All profits above the actual cost of operation will be divided among the employees. The owners will receive no return on their investment. This plan will continue indefinitely, the owners feeling that the workers will soon tire of their bargain and the latter boasting that they have inherited a life interest in the plant.

Wilson Will Make His Home

This is where Woodrow Wilson, private citizen, plans to live after March 4. The president has closed negotiations for the purchase of this residence at 2340 S-st. N. W., Washington, D. C., for about $150,000. The gardens in the rear and alongside the house cover nearly half a block. The residence was built six years ago by Henry P. Fairbanks and has 18 rooms.

KANSAS MILLERS ORDERED TO KEEP THEIR MEN BUSY

Decision of Kansas Court Is Most Far-Reaching Under
New Law.

By United Press Leased Wire
Topeka, Kans.—Decision of the Kansas court of industrial relations in the Topeka flour mill case, in which it was set down that essential industries must continue to provide employment for their "faithful and skilled employees," even in dull periods when partial shut downs are necessary, is generally considered the most far-reaching step yet taken by the new Kansas tribunal.

W. L. Huggins, presiding judge, who wrote the opinion, explained that no hard fast rule could be established that would apply to every industry and that would define just what men an industry would have to keep on its payrolls in a shut down, but said circumstances of every case would have to govern.

He explained that under the opinion, the court takes the stand that when capital invests in an essential industry, it assumes an obligation to the public and must submit to such reasonable regulations as will protect the rights of the public.

It also assumed the responsibility, he said, to maintain its force of workmen in steady employment and in times when conditions have to be faced which force partial curtailment of production, it must keep its organization together to such an extent that it will be able to serve the public to its fullest capacity when times and conditions again become normal.

Judge Higgins used a hypothetical case to explain.

"Let us suppose that a flour mill regularly employs fifty men," he said. "Let us say that under conditions like those which the Kansas millers are now facing they are unable to run their mills full time. We will say that 35 of the 50 men they employ are men who are skilled, who have been faithful in the performance of their duties and who are essential to the operation of the mill under normal conditions. Then it is up to the mill management to provide these 35 men with work and keep them and their families going until such time as they again become essential in the operation of the mill and in the producing of necessities."

HUGHES DENIES HE HAS CABINET JOB

Published Stories Are Irresponsible Rumors, Hughes Declares.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—Charles Evans Hughes has received a conditional offer to become secretary of state, in the Harding cabinet, and is considering it, it was learned on high authority here today.

The condition attached to the offer was said to be that Hughes should work with Senator Harding in establishing a new association of nations and casting aside the league of nations as set up in the treaty of Versailles.

Heretofore Hughes has held that the league covenant should be amended to strike out the clauses to which its opponents objected, notably Article X. Hughes is now said to be considering whether he will ever from this position which is understood not to coincide with that of the president-elect.

New York.—Referring to a published report that he had accepted appointment as secretary of state under Harding, Charles E. Hughes today issued the following written statement:

"The stories published are irresponsible rumors and I do not care to discuss them."

Hughes told a United Press reporter that he did not have a conference with Senator Knox in Washington yesterday as reported. The Washington story stated that Knox tendered him the office at a conference in Washington yesterday and that Hughes accepted.

Advices from well informed republican sources at Marion and Washington, however, indicate that there is little doubt that Hughes has been seriously considered for the state portfolio and that it may have been offered to him.

It is stated that the chief difficulty in the situation is the fact that Hughes now has a very lucrative law practice.

"Holiday Fiction"
Marion, Ohio.—Published reports that Senator Knox, acting as spokesman for President-elect Harding had induced Charles E. Hughes to become secretary of state, were characterized as "holiday fiction writings," by Senator Harding today.

NEW HOME RULE BILL PAVES WAY FOR IRISH PEACE

Sinn Fein and British Leaders
Are Adopting More Lenient Attitude.

BULLETIN
By United Press Leased Wire
London.—Great Britain is considering instituting martial law over all Ireland, Sir Hamar Greenwood told the house of commons today.

Greenwood's announcement followed shortly after crown forces in Dublin took possession of the Mansion House and other municipal buildings.

BULLETIN
Dublin.—Crown forces today occupied the Dublin city hall and municipal buildings. The action was in accordance with a recent announcement from Dublin castle.

London.—All lines in the Irish conflict with Great Britain seemed to converge toward peace today.

Despite the continuing of attack and reprisal in Ireland, leaders on both sides appeared to be adopting a more lenient attitude.

Passage of the home rule bill, to which King George was expected to give royal assent today, marked the culmination of a long fight by Irish leaders. Although the bill was not just what had been demanded, it was hoped here that the measure would bring peace while Ireland takes advantage of the bill to begin a semi-independent career.

The bill provides for two parliaments—north and south—with a connecting link in the shape of a council of forty to be selected evenly from two parliaments.

Ireland must accept the measure within three and a half years or it becomes void.

Encouraging signs from the government were the announcement that "President" Eamonn De Valera will not be arrested if he returns to Ireland and announcement that Gen. Tudor, commander of the auxiliary police, had gone on indefinite leave.

Gen. Tudor was not blamed for the black and tan reprisals it was believed that his absence would be taken to mean a change in policy which would permit the beginning of peace conferences.

A raid on the Cork postoffice by robbers, stopped by police after one robber had been killed, was reported by the military today.

FARMERS HOPE TO PUT END TO FARM IMPORTS

Bi-Partisan Combination of Congressmen Starts Fight for Tariff.

FACE PRESIDENT'S VETO

Obstacles to Final Passage Do Not Dismay "New Party"
in House.

By Herbert W. Walker
By United Press Leased Wire

Washington.—Undismayed by reports of a probable presidential veto and of senate opposition, the "new party" in the house—the bi-partisan coalition of western and southern representatives—today began the work of jamming through the emergency tariff on agricultural products.

So powerful has been the "new party" that it has forced the way and means committee to frame a tariff measure—usually the work of months—in two days, and, according to all indications, will obtain favorable action on it in the house in the same time, plans being to take a final vote tomorrow night.

The emergency schedules establish rates so high that a virtual embargo on the importation of the products would be effected.

Leaders of the new party, the strength of which frankly has alarmed members from the eastern manufacturing sections, claim that the bill will receive sufficient votes in the house to assure its passage over a presidential veto. Test votes indicate the majority will be nearly three to one. Plans are to have the bill forced through the senate within two weeks, but this is rather doubtful because of democratic opposition there.

There were indications of a filibuster in the house against the tariff bill when its consideration was begun after Chairman Fordney announced he would endeavor to jam the measure through today.

Representative Blanton, Texas, objected to limiting general debate to an hour and Representative Wingo, Arkansas, further delayed proceedings by demanding a first reading of the bill.

In the house it is probable half the democrats will cast aside their apathy to a protective tariff. The first move of the farmer tariff makers in the house today will be to seek a rule that will prevent the burdening of the bill with numerous amendments to extend its "protective wing" to other raw materials and many manufactured products.

Chairman Fordney, of the ways and means committee, estimates that the emergency bill would produce about $130,000,000 in revenue.

The products included in the bill are wheat, flour, corn, beans, peanuts, potatoes, onions, rice, cotton, cottonseed and soybean oil, cattle, sheep, lamb, frozen mutton, wool and wool products.

The importations of these products amounts to only about one-fourth of the home consumption. The total value of the products included is placed by the department at about $4,000,000,000 while the imports the last year amounted to only $50,222,000.

Proponents of the bill point out figures to win support for the bill. They say that importations of wheat from Canada and Argentina this year have amounted to 15,950,956 bushels.

Corn, rice and other crops are estimated to be larger this year and consequently will suffer in increased degree by importations, advocates of the bill contended.

OFFICIALS PROFIT FROM COAL DEALS

Senate Investigators Told How Officials Made Money in
"Scramble."

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—Calling of Attorney general Palmer before the senate investigating committee and steps looking toward the prosecution of government officials alleged to have made big profits in the "wild scramble for coal," stood out today as possible developments in the senate's inquiry into coal profiteering.

Charges that these things went on were made before the senate committee on reconstruction and production by George H. Cushing, director of the American Wholesale Coal association.

The committee had its experts working on two important lines of inquiry into Cushing's testimony as it convened again today to hear the coal operators' side of the story from J. D. A. Morrow, vice-president of the National Coal association. These were Cushing's statements that:

1—A group of government officials who at the time he refused to name, made a profit of $150 a ton on 450,000 tons of coal which they sold through a "pool."

2—The 600 wholesale dealers belonging to the Wholesale Coal association, upon his advice, disregarded an attempted investigation into their business by the department of justice and that Attorney General Palmer approved of Cushing's advice to the coal dealers.

Price Drops As Chicago Prepares For Big Night

Chief of Police Announces He Will Not Interfere With
"Hip Bars."

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—Thirsty Chicagoans today were thanking the God Bacchus for their thirst and picking up the odd pints here and there in preparation to drinking the old year out and the new year in.

Those whose cellars have been drained were able to purchase bonded liquor today for $7 a pint.

The decline in price from $10 to $7 remains a mystery. When the curious asks his "pet bootlegger" the reason he is shushed and dismissed with a wink.

A wild night on Lake Michigan on New Year's eve was predicted today following the statement of Chief of Police Fitzmorris that those who carry liquor on their hips would not be molested by police.

The chief spoke unto the populace as follows:

"Merry Christmas to one and all. If you carry liquor on your respective hips during this yuletide season, my department will not interfere. We are too busy taming wild-eyed gunmen and bandits to bother about the moist contents of your pocket. Peace on earth; good will toward men."

Frank D. Richardson, federal prohibition agent, has said ideas and has issued orders to his men to arrest anyone carrying a jar on New Year's eve. But, the old timers proclaim, "there are three million people in Chicago and surely the federals wouldn't pick me out."

It promises to be a ring around the pail, "catch me if you can."

Cabarets are now accepting reservations from those who plan to spend the last night of 1920 in looping the loop from one gilded palace to another.

Flappers and cuties, whom fashion will not let admit they have hips, are planning to "carry their own" in their sable coat pockets.

WILSON COMPLETES PLANS FOR MARCH 4

President Will Leave White
House After Luncheon
With Mr. Harding.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Woodrow Wilson and President-elect Warren G. Harding will lunch together at the White House following the formal inauguration at noon on March 4, according to plans announced today.

Immediately after that luncheon, the man who has lived in the executive mansion for eight years will go to his new home at 2340 S street.

Secretary Tumulty today announced the president's plan for inauguration day following a long conference with his chief.

The president, Tumulty said, plans to ride to the capitol from the White House in company with Senator Harding. After the ceremonies at the capitol, they will return for luncheon at the White House.

Tumulty said the president's health has improved greatly in the last two weeks and that he is planning to plunge into writing a series of articles and books immediately after he leaves the presidency.

The president did not mention any plans for an autobiography or memoirs, Tumulty said.

"President Wilson was in exceptionally good humor," said Tumulty, telling of their talk which lasted several hours.

The president got around well and no cane was visible, his secretary said. He added he believed the president had been helped in his recovery by the fact that since November he has been able to quit worrying.

POWDER MILL BLAST TAKES FOUR LIVES

By United Press Leased Wire
Scranton, Pa.—Four men are known to be dead as a result of an explosion in No. 2 packing mill of the Dupont Powder works at Moosic, seven miles from Scranton, today.

The dead are Samuel Brown, Edward Croome, Calvin Shotwell, one unidentified.

All telephone communication with Moosic, which is seven miles distant, was broken by the blast.

Some idea of the force of the explosion could be gained by the fact that the jar violently shook the central portion of Scranton, rattling windows.

BIG BUSINESS OPENS WAR ON CLOSED SHOP

Conference of Big Employers to Be Held in Chicago
Next Month.

FIGHT ADJUSTMENT BOARD

Railroad Unions Declare Board Has No Connection With Union Labor.

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago—Manufacturers of the nation today served notice on union labor that the intensive drive against the closed shop had started, when William Butterworth issued a call for a convention of big employers of the country.

Butterworth is head of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, president of the national conference of National Manufacturers' association, comprised of employers in the following states:

Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New York, Washington, West Virginia and Wisconsin.

He conferred with President-elect Harding yesterday.

Butterworth, in an open letter today, attacked the plan of the railway brotherhoods, who, he said, demand the establishment of a national board of adjustment to handle all labor troubles instead of the individual companies handling their own affairs.

Butterworth said if the brotherhoods succeed in their plan it would influence all other industries.

"The plan of the brotherhoods means the closed shop and union domination over all industries alike," Butterworth said.

Vital Question
"This is the most vital question facing the manufacturing and producing interests of the country today and should have immediate attention."

The brotherhoods want to establish the adjustment board under authority of the transportation act passed by congress which provides for a national labor board having jurisdiction over railway employees' wages when controversies are appealed to it. The act provides the adjustment board may be established by agreement of labor and employers.

Butterworth called a convention of the national conference of state manufacturers' associations to be held here January 12.

The conference will be in protest of the stand taken by the brotherhoods. Butterworth invited the following big employers of labor to be present at the conference:

Judge E. L. Gary, of the United States circuit court, Chicago; W. Schwalb, president of the Bethlehem Steel company; Dwight W. Morrow, of J. P. Morgan and company; F. A. Seabring, Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, and Charles Piez, former head of the emergency fleet corporation.

It was indicated by Butterworth that the immigration problem is one of vexation to American industry and will be discussed at the conference.

Robert M. Buck, editor of the New Majority, leading labor paper in the middle west, said labor was aware of the fight on the closed shop and was prepared to go the limit.

"Manufacturers sweeten the open shop proposition by calling it the 'American plan,'" said Mr. Buck.

"The open shop, if established, would mean the end of organized labor. This fight is vital to our interests."

Open Shop on Railroad

Cleveland, Ohio.—There is no connection between the proposed national board of adjustment for settlement of railway disputes and the closed shop principle, railroad brotherhood officials declared today.

"There is absolutely no relations between the board we propose and the closed shop question," said President W. G. Lee, of the brotherhood of railway trainmen.

"The railroads are now operating under an open shop policy and the brotherhoods are not fighting for the closed shop."

"Any one who believes that our fight for a national adjustment board is a step for the closed shop does not know what he is talking about," President Warren S. Stone, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, said.

"We are interested in getting an adjustment body to deal with disputes of railway workers and that is all," he said.

Labor Accepts Challenge
Washington.—Secretary Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor today accepted the challenge of William Butterworth, president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, who issued a call for manufacturers of the country to hold a congress to plan a nation-wide battle to establish the "open shop."

"Labor is alive to what its enemies are doing," said Morrison.

"Mr. Butterworth's proposal is a phase of the agitation of the chamber of commerce of the United States to establish non-union conditions in industry throughout the country."

"The trade union movement is not only strong enough to sustain the conditions in industry which it has established but also to win raw victories each year and improve on present conditions for the workers."

START SHOVELING SNOW EARLY THIS MORNING

The street department was on the scene early this morning and had the work of removing the snow from down town crosswalks and curbside well under way before the majority of people got down to their places of business. An old fashioned shoveling match was in progress on College avenue at eight o'clock when merchants began cleaning their walks. The street department is well supplied with shovels and scrapers and commenced removing the snow at once. A crew from the county highway commissioner's department also got busy at an early hour removing snow from some of the state trunk highways.

A speaker was engaged but was unable to appear.

with Mrs. Roemer, has just arrived in Appleton to spend the holidays with relatives. "Naturally there are many vacant houses," said Mr. Roemer, "and landlords are voluntarily reducing rents in order to hold their tenants." Mr. Roemer stated that the demand for houses and provisions during the war and since, while the automobile business was flourishing, was such that it sent prices skyward and Detroit was considered one of the most expensive cities in the country in which to live. Everybody had money, however, and spent it freely. "The depression in business does not seem to have affected the Christmas trade and the department stores are breaking all former records in the amount of business handled. Mr. Roemer is engaged in the lumber business, and while he said there is very little demand for lumber at present he predicts a busy season next year.

101 LAWRENCE MEN UNDER BONUS LAW

State Educational Report Indicates Over $850,000 Spent for Service Men.

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison—The State Board of Education in its biennial report issued today, tells of the administration of the Soldier Educational Bonus law for the first year, going into minute detail on the success of the undertaking, Wisconsin being the first state in the Union to grant such a bonus.

The report shows that in the first year under the law a total of $811,580 was paid to the soldiers in the Educational bonus, while the total cost to the state of the administration of the law, which includes the bonus itself, was but $854,145.53 of which $8,917.77 was for the day classes in engineering and commerce conducted in Milwaukee under the direction of the extension division of the University of Wisconsin.

Four thousand, eight hundred ninety-three students were assigned under the law for full time educational work in the state, 1,183 students for correspondence courses, and 395 students to institutions outside of the state of Wisconsin. The former soldiers were assigned to 157 educational institutions in Wisconsin for all day work, for which they received $30,000 per month $300.00 for each month that they were in regular attendance. The full-time students attending in institutions outside of Wisconsin, were in 123 schools.

The University of Wisconsin had the largest number of bonus students, with 2,113, the Milwaukee School of Engineering 638, Marquette University 155, Milwaukee Normal 123, Lawrence college 101, while the largest number to attend a continuation school were enrolled in the Central Continuation School, Milwaukee, which had 90 former soldiers. The Milwaukee high schools had 40 enrolled.

Of those going out of the state, 31 attended the University of Minnesota, Northwestern University 20, University of Chicago 19, Mooseheart School 18, Harvard Law School 15.

FIGHT RECEIVERSHIP FOR GOODYEAR TIRE CO.

By United Press Leased Wire
Akron, Ohio. — Attorney W. E. Young representing the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, was in Columbus today to speed hearing on the suit of receivership brought against the rubber concern.

The suit, filed by Frank S. Monnett, Columbus attorney, brought F. A. Seiberling, president of the rubber concern back to Akron Sunday from New York.

The official charges Monnett's petition was filled with misrepresentations and contains scarcely a truthful statement.

Seiberling declared as "untrue" the statement by Monnett that the June, 1920 stock dividend was not paid out of surplus earnings.

Business depression has affected the Goodyear company, but after charging off the entire loss the company will still have ample assets with which to pay its indebtedness, to cover its entire issue of preferred stock and still have many millions of dollars for common stockholders, Seiberling said.

HORSE SAVES 1,000 CHILDREN

Berkeley, Cal.—"Alice," a plain sorrel mare, owned by Miss Margaret Williams, has saved 1,000 children's lives in the last few years. Every 25 days two gallons of blood are taken from the horse and made into diphtheria serum at a laboratory here. The horse is carefully fed and watched at all times.

FARMS OF STATE NEED PROTECTION

Prof. C. P. Norgord's Report Shows Situation on Badger Farms.

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison—Because there is invested in farms and farm equipment in the state of Wisconsin $3,501,000,000 upon which there was a gross return this year of $506,000,000, or something over $200 for every man, woman and child in the state, and because further 1,332,000 people or 52.1 per cent of the entire population are directly or indirectly engaged in agriculture in the state, Prof. C. P. Norgord, state commissioner of agriculture, declares in his biennial report just completed that the agricultural industry is well worth the fostering and protective care it is receiving, and more. "It is an industry," he adds, "however, that is threatened by many dangers from within and without. Changing economic conditions must be met, with the prospect that prices of farm products will drop below the profit point. It is an industry inadequately organized, hence not well prepared for the impending changes. From within plant and animal diseases are a constant menace.

"The insect drain upon its resources is terrific. It takes the entire labor of 600,000 farmers to produce what insects consume in the United States each year. The annual loss on corn exceeds 100,000,000 bushels, with the possibility of this loss being multiplied by ten by the corn borer."

Cows Disease Free.
As indicating how effective the fight against animal diseases may be made, Prof. Norgord cites the fact that in the effort to eradicate bovine tuberculosis, Wisconsin now has two absolutely clear areas, that is sections where tuberculosis has been completely stamped out; and that by the accredited herd method, there are now 410 herds in the state which have been proved by repeated tests to be absolutely free from tuberculosis. Barron county in this state with 65,000 head of cattle is now declared to be substantially free of tuberculosis—the largest cattle raising clean area in the United States. The other clean area is Washington Island in Green Bay, where there is not an animal having any trace of tuberculosis. In this work Wisconsin leads all the other states.

The law should be amended to give the powers vested in the division of markets a broader scope, and should increase the funds for inspection and investigational purposes. Funds should be provided for rural planning to put a man in field to stimulate county and community committees to set aside rural parks, lake shores and other rural community improvements.

BEER HAS TOO MUCH KICK; SEIZE BREWERY

Wilkes Barre, Pa.—The entire plant and apparatus of the Stegmayer Brewing company the largest in Luzerne county, were seized today by the United States government for alleged violation of the Volstead prohibition act. It was the first brewery taken over by the revenue authorities in the state of Pennsylvania. The action is said to involve payment of a huge fine for putting out beer with a greater alcoholic content than that allowed by law.

Commission Places Vocational Trainees on Same Basis as Employees.

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison—In an opinion given informally to the Federal Board for Vocational Education, the Industrial Commission today held that disabled soldiers and sailors who are placed with employers for vocational training are employees within the meaning of the compensation act. The fact that some of these trainees are not paid any wage was held to be immaterial.

"The most important element in fixing the status of a trainee is the question of what he is to do for business or industry, rather than what industry is to do for him," says the commission in its opinion. The important elements are held to be that trainees are performing services for the employer and are subject to his direction. The payment or non-payment of a money wage is comparatively unimportant, because the principal consideration is the instruction, just as in apprenticeship.

In its opinion the commission urges employers to cooperate with the federal board in affording training, disabled soldiers and sailors who are vocationally handicapped. It states "The hazard attendant upon the presence of these handicapped men in industry over other men is negligible, if indeed it is present in fact. The experience of the commission tends to show that the industrial cripple usually displays extra care and caution. There is no reason to believe that the disabled soldier or sailor will be less cautious."

ITALIAN SOCIALISTS BATTLE NATIONALISTS

By United Press Leased Wire
Rome—Three men were killed and seven wounded in a battle between socialists and nationalists at Ferrara, according to information received from Bologna today.

The trouble was reported to have started when an attack was made on socialist deputy Nucchi. Several hundred nationalists motored to Ferrara from Bologna to reinforce their comrades. The fight was said to have lasted several hours.

KENOSHA RUM RING IS TO BE PROBED

Grand Jury Will Investigate Liquor Dealings in Southern City.

Milwaukee—A special grand jury will be called in Kenosha within a few days to crush the bootlegging business, said to be thriving there on an extensive scale, according to rumors from that city on Tuesday.

Illicit liquor selling is said to have increased to such an extent in Kenosha that the present machinery of the law has proved inadequate to stop it. Kenosha is reputed to be the center of operations of at least two big whisky rings, one of which is said to have smuggled thousands of gallons of Canadian "booze" into Wisconsin and Illinois.

Much domestic liquor supplying Milwaukee bars is also said to come from Kenosha.

Plan Drastic Action

Because rum runners are operating with impunity in the face of persistent efforts to curb their activities, county authorities are understood to have decided drastic action will be necessary. Circuit Judge E. B. Belden will issue the grand jury call, according to the reports.

The prohibition enforcement department took additional steps on Tuesday to make Milwaukee drier than ever before over the holidays. Beer testers were sent to the breweries and saloons to take samples and report any instances where beer is found to contain more than one-half of 1 per cent of alcohol.

Breweries manufacturing beer with a "kick" will be prosecuted to the limit, enforcement officials announced. Under orders just issued no leniency can be shown even if the alcoholic content is but slightly in excess of the one-half of 1 per cent.

GREECE REDUCED TO RANK OF THIRD CLASS POWER

By United Press Leased Wire
Paris—Great Britain and France have agreed to a plan whereby they and Italy will simultaneously withdraw their ambassadors from Athens, leaving only charge d'affaires to look after their interests, the French foreign office announced today. Execution of the project awaits only endorsement by Italy.

This action which would reduce Greece to a third rate power in the eyes of the three big European nations, is one of the steps designed to indicate the allies' opposition to resumption of King Constantine.

NORTH SHORE OFFICERS MUST FACE GRAND JURY

Waukegan—Four officials of Waukegan and of North Chicago, Ill., were indicted on Monday by the Lake county grand jury on charges of misconduct in office. The indictments specify alleged protection of gamblers and bootleggers.

Those indicted were: E. C. Mean, mayor of North Chicago; Thomas Tyrrell, assistant chief of police of Waukegan; John Nelson, justice of the peace, North Chicago.

E. Hemmick, chief of police of Waukegan, was requested to resign by Mayor Mean, after Hemmick and twenty others were held up and disarmed in a daylight robbery of a saloon.

The price reduction was announced by dealers who are unable to make deliveries because of disagreement with drivers. It will be several days, dealers said, before deliveries can be resumed.

THE BUSINESS SITUATION

We trust that our readers generally read the excellent article on the business situation by David Lawrence, our Washington correspondent, in Monday night's issue of the Post-Crescent. It brought out the important fact that official Washington is of the opinion that the industrial and commercial outlook for 1924 is encouraging, and that shortly after the new year conditions will commence to improve. The reasons given for this view of the situation were presented in detail and we think they will appeal to most persons of an optimistic turn of mind.

Whenever there is a reaction from a state of high prosperity it is inevitably accentuated by the mental attitude of the public. For a time there is a depression of spirit and a tendency to take a gloomy view of things in general. This does not operate to improve matters, on the contrary it helps to make them worse. It is simply the psychology that marks a change in affairs. But the rule works both ways, and it follows that if a determination to make things better supplants the first feelings of depression it will go a long way toward counteracting the effects of business recession. It is merely the psychology of optimism, and we all know that that is a strong factor in the shaping of events, particularly where it requires some moral courage to face them.

When we reached a point where the price level automatically contracted buying it left many producers and especially merchants in a serious predicament. It became a question of how to dispose of stocks they were carrying for which high prices had been paid without suffering losses that would undermine their stability and cause disaster. The public would not be helped by a precipitate readjustment that brought with it failures and a general collapse of business. Business men and merchants have been endeavoring to go through this period in a sound condition, and it is right and proper that they should. Early in the year they will have taken most of their losses and every one will hope that they go through this process successfully. This readjustment must of course be followed by renewed buying, provided it takes place without undermining the mercantile structure. If the public wants to see business good and conditions improve it must to a reasonable extent cooperate by remaining in the market. It must absorb production and supplies to such an extent as will require their replenishment, otherwise it is obvious that the whole machinery of production will have to cease, or at least be curtailed to such an extent as to bring about a very serious relapse.

With the opening of spring we shall undoubtedly have a revival of the automobile business, and with lowered cost of construction we should have greater activity in building than we have had in several years. Probably by that time the export situation will have been relieved and Europe will be placed in a position to absorb much of our production. If in the meantime congress addresses itself conscientiously and energetically to legislation of a constructive character, such as revision of the tariff and disposition of the questions of peace, this will materially improve industry, commerce and agriculture.

But in any consideration of the business situation we must keep the fact before us that the mental attitude of the country will be of prime importance. It will be vastly easier to run this temporary depression back to normal prosperity by determination and optimism than by surrender and pessimism. It is true that we have economic problems that must be solved rightly before we are out of the woods, and that these are basic in the readjustment now in progress, but it also is true that psychology will have a great deal to do with facilitating the readjustment and with hastening a restoration of sustained prosperity.

FEMININE ORATORY

Most of the proceedings of the League assembly at Geneva, though important, have lacked ordinary human interest. The missing note was supplied one day last week when Mile. Henri Forthhammer rose to address the assembly on the subject of suppressing white slavery. She was a substitute delegate for Denmark. As a correspondent tells it. "Mile. Forthhammer took the floor and in the purest English gave the delegates an example of clearness and conciseness which, if it had come earlier, might have shortened the meeting of the assembly." Needless to say, she got what she wanted. When she had finished speaking, the white slave resolutions were adopted unanimously.

This is getting to be a familiar story, since American women entered political life, yet men continue to be surprised every time a woman makes a speech. Feminine oratory, obviously enough, is something that is going to receive study hereafter. There is an odd contradiction that remains to be explained. Women in ordinary conversation have generally been considered rambling, inconsequential and wordy, compared with men. That is, the men have so considered them. How then does it happen that when women rise to address a crowd, they usually speak more concisely, logically and forcibly than men do? Is it because they try harder, or because they have some special gift that they have not been given credit for?

INTELLIGENCE

Some public school systems are substituting "intelligence tests" for the old-fashioned examinations. In Detroit the intelligence test is applied to all new teachers, by order of the school board.

There is a difference between book knowledge and intelligence—and the intelligence test is a recognition of that difference. An unschooled man may be, and often is, an intelligent as well as educated man because he picks up and absorbs and makes a part of his consciousness every lesson of experience; everything he reads; and everything of value that he hears.

On the other hand, what is called education, or "schooling" is too often merely a piling up of facts in a brain, like furniture in a storage house. Or, frequently, it is only a pouring in of facts, like water through a sieve. That is not education.

The furniture of the intelligent man's mind is arranged. It is not crowded or jumbled. The intelligent man often knows more of what is going on in the world than what is in books. The exceptionally educated man knows both books and life, and book knowledge is valuable to him only so far as it interprets life.

It is well that public school systems are demanding intelligence in teachers as well as the book learning that can be obtained by cramming. If you look back you will find the teachers who did you the most good were not those who drilled the most geography and arithmetic into your head, but those others to whom books were but guides in explorations of the wide ranges of life.

TODAY'S POEM

(By Edmund Vance Cooke)

GO HALF WAY

Happiness is just ahead;
Go half way to meet it;
Put away your doubting dread;
Go half way to meet it;
Lift your dull and drooping head;
Stir your sodden feet of lead;
Sunshine on the path is spread;
Go half way to meet it.

Fortune is around the bend;
Go half way to meet it;
Can you buy unless you spend?
Go half way to meet it;
Do your part and in the end
Life shall smile on you and send
Many a daily dividend;
Go half way to meet it.

Friendship waits you, lingering near
Go half way to meet it;
Calm your hesitating fear;
Go half way to meet it;
Free your soul of every sneer,
Coin your heart to songs of cheer;
This your hour and this your year!
But—go forth to meet it!

BUSINESS OF LIVING

In his autobiography Benjamin Franklin tells how he kept books on himself. He had a ledger, at the top of each page of which he wrote one of the several virtues he regarded as fundamental for right living. One page he devoted to frugality, another to temperance, a third to industry, a fourth to silence, and so on.

At the end of each day he examined himself and if he had failed in any of these virtues, he gave himself a black mark on the ledger. In this way he kept himself informed as to the weak spots of his make-up, and devoted himself constantly to improving them. Thus he kept the record in the ledger balanced.

To Ben Franklin living was the most important of all businesses. He was more concerned in showing gains and stopping losses in his living business than in his printing business.

Health Talks

Noted Physician and Author.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. THIS EXERCISE BUNK

Quotation from a faith department bulletin: "Some alleged health authorities are constantly writing about the increasing mortality on this continent and its causes, which they principally lay to degenerative diseases, such as those involving the kidneys, heart and blood vessels, for which they offer various remedies—principally exercise and less food. Such writings are harmful and untrue."

Not guilty, if I may so flatter myself. In fact I know of no alleged health authority or actual health authority anywhere who continually or occasionally writes about any such thing. This bulletin article is unsigned but presumably at least approved by the health commissioner of the city where it is printed. It is, I think, the first instance of a real health authority even implying that there may be any such increasing mortality. Several health authorities frequently write and talk about the increasing death rate among people of middle age, chiefly from the type of diseases mentioned, but also from cancer. I am not such an alleged health authority—I allege my own health authority. I can cite one other proof that there is an increasing mortality among people of forty to fifty years of age in the United States than the evidence furnished by the mortality statistics of the United States Census Bureau. If those statistics show anything at all they show precisely such increasing mortality and in spite of a steadily decreasing mortality for persons of all other ages, even advanced age.

In the same health department bulletin appears this striking "Healthgram" (no health board bulletin is complete nowadays without some of these snappy things):

Ventilate your homes and bodies, as well as your opinions.

Well, how can one ventilate one's body without taking exercise? Is the ventilation to be confined to the face and the hands or to the surface? Or should we ventilate the body inside as well as outside.

The "alleged health authorities" scarcely offer exercise and less food as remedies for the diseases the bulletin item mentions. They would be poor remedies for such cases. Rather the alleged authorities suggest more exercise and less food as preventive measures against such diseases. And that they certainly are.

Fat, overfed, underexercised, tobacco saturated, dopey, well heeled men, traveling fast toward a premature grave, are fond of declaring that all this exercise bunk does a man no good.

Exercise properly employed increases metabolism, improves the wind, strengthens the heart, lowers blood pressure, increases the absorption of oxygen in the body and the destruction and elimination of waste matters and retained poisons, improves circulation, aids digestion—well, that's enough. Does any body offer a better preventive measure against the "degenerative diseases" mentioned in the item I have quoted?

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Excessive Sweating of the Palms
Can you recommend any application which will prevent excessive sweating of the palms of the hands? It is not from nervousness or embarrassment. It seems to be a constant condition with me (J. R. E.).

ANSWER—Rub into the palms for a few minutes each evening for a week a little of this ointment: Solution of Formaldehyde (U. S. P.) . . . ¼ dram Menthol 2 grains Lanolin ¼ ounce Petroleum, enough to make 1 ounce This should be dispensed in a collapsible tube and labelled Formaldehyde Ointment.

Buffalo Climate for Rheumatism
Please tell me whether the climate of Buffalo, N. Y., or the climate of Providence, R. I., is good for a chronic articular rheumatism.

ANSWER—So far as my knowledge of joint disease goes, climate has no influence.

Horse Sense
I enjoy your health talks. You mix so much horse sense in your writing. I am 84 years old and practiced medicine from 1883 to 1913. For corns and calluses apply once daily a solution of thirty grains of salicylic acid in half an ounce of flexible collodion, for about ten days—and what then? (H. W. S. M. D.)

ANSWER—Then quit wearing the kind of shoes that causes corns and calluses.

Uric Acid Phobia
I am told that eating sugar and sweets makes uric acid in the system, in other words, sugar in the urine. (H. S. R.)

ANSWER—Somebody spoofing you. Uric acid is normally produced in the body; even when in excess, we have no evidence that it causes disease. It has nothing to do with sugar.

TOYS FOR GIRLS AND BOYS

Toys are made larger, more elaborate and more costly than ever before. Life-size toy bears, and toy giraffes as high as their prices stand beside mechanical toys of almost incredible ingenuity in the toy shops this Christmas.

But kindergarten teachers who have made play their life study say children frequently derive more pleasure and benefit from simple and inexpensive toys. Little girls often prefer tiny doll dishes to larger ones. It's the same with toys for boys. The belief that a child's liking for a toy increases with the toy's size is an illusion of adults.

An automatic toy has only a brief interest. For instance, one that winds up and races in a circle. A child's greater interest is in one whose operation he can direct and control.

Elizabeth Harrison, a national authority, says: "The choice of toys should be based not so much on what a toy is as on what a child can do with it."

The instinctive delight in putting their own thoughts into their playthings, instead of accepting the thought of the manufacturer, explains why simple toys are often more pleasing to children than expensive ones.

There is no occasion to pity the child who has only simple and inexpensive toys for Christmas. This child may have all the best of it.

GERMAN INDUSTRY IMPAIRED

Chemnitz, Germany.—The German stocking industry, once one of the most flourishing, has fallen on bad times. This is partly attributable to the natural retrogression resulting from the war; partly to exchange questions which make import of raw materials difficult; and partly to the development of the stocking industry in America and the budding development in Australia.

The German plants are casting about to develop "specialties" such as mixed colors, in the hope that they will be able to regain something of their old standing on the world's market.

Forty-five thousand trees were planted last spring in the publicly-owned forest at Malone, N. Y.

The Ancestral Fliv.

By Frederic J. Haskin

Washington, D. C.—A funny-looking waucy which is probably the oldest American automobile in existence has just been given a prominent place in the National museum here.

This vehicle was made in 1893 by Charles Duryea. It is literally an old-fashioned phaeton carriage with an engine fastened at the back and a long steering rod which worked up and down sideways conspicuous in the front. To start the engine, the driver had to go to the back of the car and crank. He had to get out to shut off the engine when he stopped the car. But in many ways this primitive automobile is closely related to the superior car of today.

Duryea saw that his motor wagon could not turn corners easily on ordinary wagon axles. He therefore made use of a differential, so that the outside wheel could revolve faster than the inside wheel in making a turn, the fundamental principle of every modern car. He used a spray carburetor, not very unlike the modern carburetor; electric ignition, water cooling, and other features which later makers improved but have not replaced.

This car saw hard service for a few years. Then from 1897 to the present it has stood in a Massachusetts barn where children played around it and sat on its cushions, and dust, cobwebs, and rats helped along its appearance of antiquity. Fifteen years ago the inventor offered his historic automobile to the National museum; but at that time the government had to crowd its thousands of exhibits into one inadequate building, and rather than accept the gift and then store it away in a warehouse, the curators refused it. Now it has been dug out of its oblivion, carefully shipped to Washington, and set up in state, in a roped-off enclosure, in the hall with our early locomotives and airplanes and other pioneer vehicles.

This is not, of course, the world's first automobile. Automobiles run by steam were tried out in France in the eighteenth century. They were never satisfactory, and they had little in common with the gasoline automobile. But even in the history of the real gas-propelled vehicle we find that a German inventor was running his car in 1884, before American inventors dared attempt anything so startling.

Sudden Rise of the Auto.
Then, all of a sudden, automobiles appeared in different parts of the United States. The time was propitious for a revolution of traffic, and the inventors were getting busy. So rapidly did the first machines appear that it is a matter of proving the months, or maybe the exact days, on which several of the first cars appeared, in order to settle the question of which is the original American automobile. This exact information has not been supplied by some of the inventors claiming priority for their inventions. It is possible that it cannot be obtained, and that mystery will always enshroud this epoch of our history.

Meanwhile, only when indisputable proof of its existence at a certain time is given, will the museum authorities consider using an historic vehicle as an exhibit. Duryea has proved that he built his first car in 1891, and was using it by the end of September or the first of October, 1892. The next year he took it apart and used its best features to make a better one—the car given to the government.

Until Duryea proved the history of his model, Elwood Haynes was popularly given credit for making the first appearance in an American car. Haynes planned his invention and had it built in 1894, and on these grounds he claimed the title of the father of the American automobile.

Gottfried Schloemer of Milwaukee is still in the competition for the title. He sets forth, for the benefit of all whom it may concern, in a sworn affidavit, that he built an automobile local change.

THE QUESTION BOX

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical, and financial matters, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. What is the origin of the noun "tip," meaning a fee for service? E. B. J.

A. The custom of tipping originated in a coffee house in London. In this tavern there was a box into which patrons desiring special service put a certain amount of money. On the box were the words "To Insure Prompt Service." The initial letters of this phrase developed into the noun "tips."

Q. What are the real names of Lenin and Trotsky? A. F.

A. Lenin's name is Vladimir Ulyanov and Trotsky's name is Leber Bronstein. Different authorities spell these names with slight variations.

Q. Please give information on the so-called soup houses, when we had them, where, and who was President at the time. C. A. W.

A. The so-called "soup houses" came into public notice during the panic of 1893 in Cleveland's administration, when this method was taken by charitable organizations in New York and elsewhere to supply the suffering poor with food.

Q. What city's name is found in most countries? A. Probably the name Rome is found in more different countries than any other.

Q. Is the gorilla a very ferocious animal? R. Y.

A. The stories told of the ferocity of the gorilla are exaggerated; it is an extremely dangerous animal only when brought to bay. It is shy, and even timid, usually retreating from man, and is rarely seen, even by the most alert and stealthy natives of the forest, except by accident. When surprised, the gorilla will run away screaming with fright, but if wounded or cornered, makes a terrible fight.

1890 and ran it on the streets of Milwaukee in 1892. Here is one instance where priority narrows down to months. Duryea ran his car in 1892 and Schloemer claims to have run his in the same year, but Schloemer gives no month and it is not definitely known whether he can prove the exact history of his machine. A Texas man also writes that he produced a self-propelling vehicle in 1890, but details and absolute proof are lacking. In view of the facts as they are generally known now, if anybody deserves to be called the Columbus, or Washington, or the Daniel Boone of the American automobile, it is Duryea.

Duryea's Career.
From his boyhood on an Illinois farm, Charles Duryea was interested in mechanics. A description of a bicycle in a popular scientific magazine led him to make the first bicycle he had ever seen. When he had to write a graduation thesis at school he chose rapid transit, and described the near approach of the horseless carriage and air transportation. Shortly after leaving school he went to the city to work for a bicycle company. He became a licensed steam engineer and he built gas engines. He was intensely interested in everything that pertained to mechanics, motors and engines, and finally he was ready to sift and apply what he had learned to his favorite dream, the horseless carriage.

For his first attempt he used a carriage body and concentrated his efforts on his motor. He experimented secretly in an upstairs workshop. Even when his machine was ready for a trial run he hesitated to take it on the street for fear of frightening horses and so antagonizing the public. Finally, he brought his model downstairs in an elevator and made his final tests on a vacant lot. Even there people came to gape and protest, but when he started the engine the sudden spitting and chugging of the motor sent the crowd flying in terror.

People became accustomed to the phenomenon of the horseless vehicle slowly. It took Duryea two years to sell thirteen cars when he started out to popularize his invention. Yet he says that his first commercial demonstration machine, the third model he made, never once had to be towed. A few times it broke down with an inexperienced driver, but in such cases one of his assistants or Duryea himself came to the rescue, and after a little tinkering the automobile of 1894 would start chugging and roll off in triumph.

The First Race.
In 1896 Duryea sent a car to England to take part in one of the oldest races in automobile history. Up to that time England had had a law prohibiting a motor vehicle to run on the common roads unless a man walked before it waving a red flag. This law kept England from making any progress with automobile inventions while France, Germany and the United States were steadily producing swifter and more reliable models.

In 1896, when England repealed the law, a celebration was held to show what strides were being made in rapid transit. Automobiles from different countries were sent to London for a demonstration race from London to Brighton—fifty-two miles. The European models had a reputation for speed, and it was to the surprise of all the spectators that Duryea's American machine got to Brighton a full hour before any of the other speed demons came puffing up.

From then on, Duryea produced one improved model after another. The body was swung lower, more cylinders were added, the horsepower was increased.

The motor car as we know it was rapidly evolved. It seems a far cry from the grotesque motor buggy in the museum, but really the development has been a process of refinement and improvement rather than of radical change.

NEWS OF INTEREST FROM COUNTY AND STATE

SKELETON BURIED IN KENOSHA STREET

Police Department Search Records for Identity of "Tall Man."

Kenosha—The finding of a human skeleton buried in a shallow grave on one of the city's streets has set the city agog over the possibility of a long hidden murder mystery and has set the police busy searching their records for a clue that may lead to the identification of the skeleton.

The skeleton was found Tuesday afternoon by Lew Heller, an employee of the Kenosha Waterworks company, while engaged in digging for a water main on Chicago street, just north of Selma street, preliminary to making repairs on a water main.

The skeleton was buried only a few feet below the surface of the ground. The place where it was found is far removed from any of the cemeteries.

Coroner Parker examined the bones of the skeleton and stated that they appeared to be those of a very tall man and that they had been buried for several years. He directed that the bones be gathered and given burial in the city cemetery.

As far as could be learned, no case contained in the Kenosha police records are of a nature that would tend to connect them with the finding of the skeleton.

STORED EGGS AND RABBITS ANCIENT

State Food Inspector Finds Commodities in Storage Nearly Two Years.

Madison—That evidence has been collected showing that eggs have been in storage in Wisconsin for more than 13 months and rabbits for more than two years is the statement of George J. Weigle, dairy and food commissioner, who has caused a quiet investigation to be made in Milwaukee, Sheboygan, Marshfield and other cities.

The state law prohibits the sale of any food product which has been in storage more than 12 months. The dairy and food commissioner has collected evidence which shows that in some instances the food products were not marked with the date they were placed in storage, while in other cases it is said eggs have been stored in one place for several months and then sent to another, when new dates were placed on the container, so they would not be in one storage for more than one year.

Inspectors are now at work ascertaining how long shipments of food products from outside the state, principally from Minnesota and Illinois, were in storage before coming to Wisconsin and not only is a general clean-up of the cold storage houses of Wisconsin in prospect but some of the largest dealers in the state will be prosecuted, according to the commissioner. One conviction has already been secured in Milwaukee and a fine of $500 paid.

NORTHERN FARMERS ARE WAGING "GRAIN STRIKE"

Eau Claire—Indicative of unanimity with which the farmers of Eau Claire and vicinity have joined in the so-called "farmers' strike" and are withholding their grain from market is the December showing of local elevators and grain dealers. Last year the Farmers' Elevator company of this city bought and shipped out three cars of wheat and rye in the first two weeks of December. In the same period this year, the company was able to buy only 400 bushels. The same is true of oats and other grains. One elevator concern has had to ship in a carload of oats to supply the local demand during the last week, whereas a year ago a first-class supply of oats had been brought into the city many times the local demand. No barley has been brought into Eau Claire this season, local commission men say.

HUNTERS KILL 88 DOES AND BUCKS THIS YEAR

Madison—According to complete reports received by the Conservation Commission from all its wardens, only 88 does and fawns were killed by the deer hunters of the state during the recent open season for deer under the one-buck law, and the greater part of them were killed accidentally; that is, were mistaken for bucks in the woods. Only a few were deliberately shot by the hunters with the knowledge that they were not bucks. The Commission estimates that not over 2,500 deer were killed in Wisconsin this year.

SLAYER'S LIFE TERM IS CUT TO 25 YEARS

Madison—Gov. Philipp commuted to twenty-five years the life imprisonment term of Charles Olm, Fond du Lac county farmer, who shot to death his son-in-law, Theodora Pickart, in May, 1919.

The commutation was on an application for pardon filed and argued by Roy Morse of Fond du Lac. Much feeling had developed in Fond du Lac over this pardon application, because the crime was one of the most cruel in that county for many years. Olm became angry because his daughter's husband would not marry him, procured a gun and shot him dead. He put up a self-defense plea, which failed to impress the jury. A verdict of guilty of premeditated murder was filed.

By getting this executive favor, Olm will be eligible to parole in about twelve years.

Efficiency at the Throttle

THE automobilist appreciates good gasoline most when he steps on the throttle and notes the efficiency in performance of his engine—blueprint efficiency alone means little to him.

Knowing this, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has devoted much of its energy to the development of a motor gasoline which not only stands the grueling test of research laboratories, but which has proved its efficiency in thousands of cars operated under every-day road and weather conditions.

The Company has studied the needs of the motorist at first hand, and has developed Red Crown, its motor gasoline, to a point where it meets exactly the needs of the automobile engine operating under conditions obtaining in the Middle West.

The efficiency of Red Crown symbolizes the spirit which animates the Company as a whole in its endeavor to render an intelligent, efficient service to the public generally.

The tremendous increase in the number of automobiles and trucks from 1,253,000 in 1914 to 7,459,507 in August, 1920, has made more apparent than ever the absolute necessity of a comprehensive, dependable system of distribution.

The development of such a system has changed from something merely desirable to something vitally necessary. The best gasoline in the world is useless if you cannot get it when you want it.

Every step from refining to final delivery is of such importance to the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) that its interest never abates until its gasoline is delivering maximum motor mileage; until its lubricating oils are helping do the work of the world to the satisfaction of the ultimate consumer.

The greatly increased yield of gasoline which this Company has been able to recover from the crude obtainable has been accomplished without sacrifice of quality.

Red Crown and Polarine performance are the best proofs of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) service.

ONLY THREE HOMES UNDER QUARANTINE

One Case of Smallpox and Two of Scarlet Fever Reported in City.

Appleton is free from diphtheria at present, the last patient having just been released from quarantine. There is only one case of smallpox and that is in the First ward. The patient who was taken to the detention hospital several weeks ago has been permitted to return to work. His case was due to lack of quarantine of a family whose illness was not reported to the health department until several members had recovered from the disease.

The number of families quarantined for scarlet fever has been reduced from five to two. It is very likely that these two will not be given their freedom until after Christmas as some of the members are still quite sick. The city was never more free from contagion at this time of the year than at present. Last year at this time the health department was fighting the flu and all the way from half a dozen to two dozen cases were being reported daily.

Dr. H. E. Ellsworth, health officer, received notice this week that the smallpox situation in the county was to be handled by Dr. Spencer of Wausau, a state inspector of the health department, so that there is little danger of the disease being brought to Appleton from adjoining towns. So far this winter there have been no deaths in Appleton from contagion and very few from pneumonia.

FIRST WARD BOY SELLS 1,200 RED CROSS SEALS

Announcement in the Post-Crescent a few days ago that Franklin Warner, pupil in Lincoln school, had sold 1,000 Red Cross Christmas seals, has resulted in information that Ward Wheeler, who is a member of the eighth grade in First ward school, has sold 1,200 stamps. It is probable that other young people have sold 700 or more stamps and if there are any who have eclipsed the record made by Master Wheeler this paper will be glad to announce their names.

LOSE MUCH TIME (4)

The movement to improve train service from the Fox River Valley to Madison is gaining momentum as more civic organizations take it up. Fond du Lac and Oshkosh are the principal sponsors for the campaign and now an effort is being made to interest the Appleton Chamber of Commerce. It is believed that if sufficient pressure is exerted the railroad companies will give the desired service.

Arguments against the present arrangements are:

That two changes must be made to reach Madison—one at Fond du Lac and the other at Jefferson Junction, both usually entailing long waits. Inconvenience and additional expense of traveling to Madison by way of Milwaukee.

Insufficient number of coaches on the trains during periods of rush travel. This condition is particularly bad when students are traveling to and from their homes.

It has been pointed out that it requires much more time to go from Appleton to Madison than it does from Appleton to Chicago, in spite of the fact that Chicago is almost 60 miles further away.

CHRISTMAS IN APPLETON TO BE SHOWN IN PAGEANT

A dramatic and pageant presentation of the "Spirit of Christmas in Appleton" will be given at seven o'clock Christmas eve at First Methodist Episcopal church. The production for the most part is original. The point of view maintained is that the spirit of Christmas can be only appreciated as it is adapted and made intelligible to those who participate. To that end such dramatizations are given as the need in the Near East in Armenia, the Green Bay Deaconess hospital and Methodist church clinic at Los Angeles, Calif. A few minutes will be given to the little children. Santa Claus will collect the gifts and leave his remembrance. The quartette will sing a number of Christmas carols. High school girls will give a special pageant.

GIANT ARTIST CHANGES PARK TO FAIRY LAND

City park at eight o'clock Wednesday morning looked like a fairy land. A soft blanket of white covered all, transforming the ugly, green, cold park benches into beautiful upholstered davenport, and trimming the bushes and trees with a delicate icing of white. Even the mound that masks the place where once the fountain flowed was changed into a dish of ice cream prepared for the giant of fairy land.

Every tree seemed to have been touched with the brush of an artist and changed from a brown skeleton into a living fairy tree "a thing of beauty and a joy forever".

Auto Truck Damaged
Hopfenberger Brothers' truck was slightly damaged in a collision with a machine at the corner of Appleton street and Midway Tuesday afternoon. The name of the other driver was not obtained. Nobody was injured.

Boat Club Banquet
The salmon which George Catlin sent from Seattle, Wash., to members of the Appleton Motor Club, was served at the regular monthly banquet at the club house Tuesday evening. Thirty members were present. The fish was prepared by Joseph Doerfler.

FRESH AIR YOUNGSTERS REMEMBER THEIR FRIENDS

Each member of Alderman Charles Fose's family received a Christmas gift Tuesday morning that is highly prized. The donors were Robert and Edward Murphy, two fresh air youngsters who were entertained by them for two weeks last July. The lads were 12 and 14 years old respectively and are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Murphy, who reside in a tenement house at 261 Eighth street, Milwaukee. Mr. Murphy is janitor in the police station near the city hall. The boys had such a good time that recollections of their outing are still vivid in their memory. While at Milwaukee during the state fair Alderman and Mrs. Fose called on the parents and were hospitably entertained.

24 OUTGAMIE COWS SHIPPED TO NEBRASKA

William Menning of this city shipped a carload, twenty-four head of Holstein cattle Tuesday to R. S. Hunt of Scott Bluff, Neb., one of the largest shipments that has been sent out of the county for some time. The cattle are to form the nucleus of a large herd with which the new owner intends to stock his farm.

Mr. Hunt was accompanied to Appleton by M. N. Lauritzen of the dairy department of Nebraska who did the selecting. Messrs. Hunt and Lauritzen board of the good qualities of Outagamie county Holsteins thru O. H. Lisbers of Lincoln, Neb., a well known purchaser, and came here from Waukesha county, where they also purchased several head.

Mr. Hunt is the owner of an irrigated farm of nearly 400 acres. Irrigated land in his section of the state sells all the way from $300 to $400 an acre. Nebraska is fast becoming a dairy state, and most of the herds have been started by Wisconsin cattle.

Miss Verna Carley, teacher of English at Ashland high school, is spending the holiday vacation with her parents.

SHE'S SECRETARY TO MRS. HARDING

KATHLEEN LAWLER

Marion, O.—Miss Kathleen Lawler of Lansing, Mich., has been Mrs. Harding's social secretary ever since Harding's nomination. It is said she'll occupy the same position when Mrs. Harding becomes first lady of the land.

Unmarried Folks Order Big Feeds In Restaurants

Waitress Can Tell if Man Is Married or Single by Way He Orders.

Unmarried people give the biggest orders in restaurants, according to Appleton waitresses. The young man coming in with his "sweetie" orders with a lavish hand without flinching the cost, gives the cashier a handful of money and doesn't count the change. Not so with the married man and his better half. He is quite likely to scan with eagle eye the right side of the menu and order carefully. If a married woman is paying for her lunch she invariably searches for the correct amount and if she does not find it she carefully checks up her exchange.

"The married woman will often tell me, 'that fleshy man the third from the end will pay for my check,'" said Miss H. Buske, cashier at the Y. M. C. A. cafeteria. "On the other hand, if an unmarried couple come in, they stay together instead of allowing other customers to come between them and it is the man who tells me that he will take care of the two checks. We have a great many more unmarried men at noon, while the married men come more frequently at night and then bring their wives."

"We often see funny things happen in the cafeteria," continued Miss Buske. "Last year we had a regular customer who always wiped off the silverware with his napkin and then placed the napkin under his plate. Every once in a while I find some one trying to get away without paying his check."

"We have more calls for short orders at night than at noon. The college students and young unmarried people give short orders but most of the married couples get regular meals. High school teachers and college students are nice to wait on. Women as a whole are a great deal more particular than men."

The chef at the College Inn, Oscar Blumichen, has observed after many years of experience, that it is the peculiar trait of college girls to order such things as fancy sandwiches, salads, pies and French pastries instead of a regular dinner, paying more for the order than for a regular dinner but getting much less food value and nourishment.

"We have more unmarried men at breakfast than married men, while many business men bring their wives up town for dinner in the evening before going to a show. These same men generally take a quick lunch at noon as they are more pressed at that hour for time."

"Women and girls are more particular about their orders but at the same time more close with their money than men. Men often get used to particular orders and get them regularly. We have several customers who always give the identical order. I always know what to prepare when I see these people enter the door. One man always orders wheat cakes, another ham and eggs."

"There are some of our patrons who are vegetarians and have never ordered a meat of any kind here, since they have come for years. Then there are over so many people who always order some type of sea food, oysters or fish of which we are making a specialty. People who have lived on the coast are very fond of it and get it whenever they can. The sea food is rich in phosphates which is good for people," concluded Mr. Blumichen.

"We find that married men come in more frequently at noon and the single men at night. They generally order regular dinners and are especially fond of sandwiches while girls, college girls especially, give short orders. Pie is the favorite order for the college girl," said Miss Celia Styven, waitress at Snyder's restaurant.

19 Eggs A Day From 23 Hens, In Winter

Mr. Dun's Hens Increased Every Day. Plan Is Easily Tried.

"We have 23 chickens and hadn't had an egg all winter. In five days after feeding Don Sung, we got 4 to 5 eggs a day. In three weeks, we were getting 10 to 12 a day. In five weeks we got 15 eggs a day."—John Dun, Box 102, Cherry Valley, Pa.

Mr. Dun started giving Don Sung in January, in zero weather. He now keeps his hens busy in winter when hens usually loaf. A trial costs nothing. Here's our offer:

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) is a scientific tonic and conditioner. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health and makes her stronger and more active. It tones up the egg-laying organs, and gets the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather.

You can obtain Don Sung from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer, or send $1.04 (includes war tax) for a package by mail, Burdell-Dugger Co., 214 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

APPLICATION OF ROTARY LAW SURE CURE FOR STRIFE

Wide Application of Rotary Principles Would Prevent War, Local Men Told.

Pointing out that service is not only the principle of Rotary but the law of life, James H. Kaye, Marquette, Mich., delivered an inspiring address before a record attendance of Rotarians at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday noon.

Mr. Kaye is governor of the 15th Rotary district and in that capacity is visiting all of the clubs in the Fox River Valley. The regular meeting was postponed from Tuesday to coincide with the itinerary followed by the speaker.

It is a common practice for people to quote the golden rule, said Mr. Kaye, but they usually omit the closing clause, "for that is the law." The principle of service is universal for that reason and when Rotary based its activity upon service, it was based on the law. He said there was a distinction made when the words "the law" are used. One does not speak of a law of gravity but the law of gravity, nor should he refer to a principle of Rotary, but the principle of Rotary.

The duty of every Rotarian, he pointed out, is to participate in the service for which the organization stands pledged, not alone for the benefit of those to whom service is extended, but as a matter of upbuilding of oneself. Forgetfulness is a sign of atrophy of one portion of the brain. Prayer is essential to complete life, not only for the benefit it brings by closer relationship to the Almighty, but also because it prevents atrophy of the spiritual impulses, failure to participate in the principle of Rotary has the same effect.

Practice Golden Rule

He said it is that great fundamental which makes it so different to define Rotary. He advocated international Rotary as encircling the world in the folds of the golden rule. He said if there were Rotary clubs all over the world and each functioning properly, there would be no need of a league of nations. Had there been Rotary clubs, closely following the principles of the organization, Germany, England and France would not have been plunged into the recent war, into which America was drawn. Those clubs, crystallizing the best sentiment of each community, would have made such a condition impossible.

The speaker advocated a budget system for each club as a means not only of maintaining attendance but of keeping the club actively at work. He said no club had a right to lower the average attendance for the district in attendance and said that was particularly true of the 15th district.

CRIME "CRUISERS" JOIN WAR ON GOTHAM BANDITS

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—Twenty "crime cruisers" were added today to New York's equipment for shattering the crime wave. Twenty automobiles, bristling with the latest automatic armament, carrying five police officers, made their initial cruises today.

The crews, consisting of one sharpshooter, one uniformed man and three "dicks," experienced in "strong arm tactics" conducted independent investigations and worked with patrolmen. They are to "shoot to kill" any criminal caught in the act.

truly true of the Fifteenth or local district, which was one in which international had its inception. If any club is not functioning properly it is the duty of the members to remedy that condition. The member who fails to advise the proper officers that he is to be absent from a meeting is showing but scant consideration for the club and for its organization.

Bound to do Good
Rotary clubs are secret societies. They are not mere eating clubs. The get-together feature is merely a basis of friendly relationships upon which its very structure depends. Men who maintain such relationships are bound to wield a constructive influence in the community. In such a city as Philadelphia, generally supposed to be slow, it has been possible to obtain 100 percentage in attendance. At Marquette a fee of $75 is charged which pays for fifty-two meals a year, all dues and incidental expenses and provides for all who desire to attend a meeting planned to be held at Fargo, N. D. Also each member who fails to advise in advance that he can not be present is fined $1. That fine is collected to take care of the reservations made for luncheons based upon all not excused before 10 o'clock of the day of the meeting. He said the fines were paid willingly, as it was purely a business proposition. The dues are collected quarterly, he said.

In its highest sense, he said, Rotary is bound to do actualize the best social philosophy and no man is so big or powerful in that a membership in the organization is not a means of additional power to him.

DISTRICT ODD FELLOWS HAVE ANNUAL MEETING

Manitowoc—Five lodges of Odd Fellows, which comprise district No. 27, representing the cities of Manitowoc, Two Rivers, Brillion and Stockbridge, held their annual convention in this city. August Kono, Manitowoc, was elected president; August Sonntag, Two Rivers, vice president; Charles Randolph, Two Rivers, secretary; Charles Frazier, Manitowoc, treasurer; E. G. Fuller, Brillion, warden. The meeting was held in conjunction with the homecoming and annual roll call of the Chickering lodge of this city. Grand Master Joslyn, Mauston, attended the convention and addressed the members.

WANT TO PASS TARIFF 'BUCK' TO PRESIDENT

foreign countries, it is suggested, will impose retaliatory tariffs and America will not be able to sell abroad in free competition with other countries which do not impose high tariffs.

New Alignment

Moreover a new alignment may be looked for when the Forney tariff bill just reported in the house of representatives get over to the senate. Instead of finding a natural democratic and republican division, the prospects are that the eastern republicans representing large manufacturing and banking communities will have a different viewpoint from that of the agricultural west and south. There is no certainty that any tariff measure could be passed in the present senate where the republican majority is slender but a coalition of west and south such as passed the present resolution reviving the war finance corporation is of course possible. But the southern senators are divided on the tariff question and the Forney measure may remain the pop-gun effort of only one house instead of congress as a whole. In any event the public can rest assured that nothing vital on the subject of tariff revision will be done until a special session of congress is convened by President-elect Harding.

Senator New, Indiana, has been suggested for secretary of war. Senator Capper, Kansas, for agriculture and Senators Fall, New Mexico, and McCormick, Illinois, for interior. Senator Lodge, Massachusetts, was discussed earlier for state, but his position as republican leader makes it advisable, according to party leaders, to keep him in the senate.

ONLY 2 SENATORS IN NEW CABINET

Want to Leave Leaders in Senate to Carry Out Harding Peace Program.

By United Press Leased Wire
Marion, Ohio—An informal understanding that the new cabinet shall contain not more than two men picked from the United States senate, was believed today to have been reached between President-elect Harding and senatorial leaders.

This course appeared to have been decided upon to avoid denuding the senate, to skirt around natural jealousies among senatorial leaders and to enable Harding to bring a large number of party leaders into official places.

Half a dozen senators have figured prominently in cabinet speculation. Powerful influences are understood to be working against Senator Knox, of Pennsylvania, and in favor of Charles E. Hughes for secretary of state.

Senator New, Indiana, has been suggested for secretary of war. Senator Capper, Kansas, for agriculture and Senators Fall, New Mexico, and McCormick, Illinois, for interior.

Senator Lodge, Massachusetts, was discussed earlier for state, but his position as republican leader makes it advisable, according to party leaders, to keep him in the senate.

A difficult program faces the senate under the new administration and Lodge wants his best lieutenants on hand to assist him in handling the intricate work which will be involved in carrying out the Harding peace program, the new tariff and financial legislation and re-organization policies.

WEALTHY FARMERS BUYING AIRPLANES

Missourians Discard Their Autos for "Surer" Means of Traveling.

Sikeston, Mo.—The "Flying Dutchman" has soared from fiction to fact in the person of the "flying farmer."

He is Leonard McMullin, 30, whose 2,000 acres of farm land are divided into three tracts some 20 miles apart.

Farmers are Rich
In this part of southeastern Missouri, huge reclamation projects have transformed a vast swamp into one of the richest farm regions in the country. The farmers can afford airplanes. And they have them. There were at one time six licensed air pilots in this town.

McMullin was first to take to the air. An automobile, at some seasons of the year, could not reach parts of his farm, in spite of all drainage. The airplane reaches all of them at any time.

McMullin visits his lands nearly every day. At each stop he generally picks up a little freight until, when he has made the rounds, he is carrying a basket of eggs, some horrified hens, or a live hog, on the wings of his machine.

Alrplane is Always Ready
"The plane is just as reliable as an automobile," says McMullin. "I have never had a wreck, and only four or five forced landings. Trains only go at certain hours, but the plane is ready to go whenever I am."

"Once, when a couple of neighboring farmers were badly hurt, it was their airplane that brought the doctor in time to save them from bleeding to death."

"I don't say that I to everything with the plane that is to be done about the farm, but it has proved its practical value."

GREEK QUEEN WEEPS OVER SON'S GRAVE

Queen Sophia Forgets Triumphal Grandeur in Anguish Over Son's Death.

By United Press Leased Wire
Athens—The pomp and grandeur of a triumphal return to rule in Greece were forgotten momentarily here when a heart-broken mother wept over the grave of a favorite son. Queen Sophia was the mother. Even while delirious crowds swarmed about her carriage, giving every sign of joy at her return, the queen's mind appeared elsewhere. At the first opportunity, she and the king visited the burial ground to heap wreaths and flowers upon the grave of their son, Alexander, former king of Greece. For a time, the queen knelt beside the grave, sobbing over the son whom she was not permitted to aid in his last illness.

Meanwhile, the country continued its celebration of King Constantine's return. Delegations from all sections of the peninsula flooded the city. Many of the visitors sought an audience with the king who sat in state for many hours, hearing their congratulations.

The king announced he will go to Smyrna within a fortnight to assume command of the army. He has promised the public in a speech at the palace, that he will continue the expansionist program and protect the redeemed and liberated territories.

I. E. Schmidt of Hortonville, was a business caller in the city Tuesday.

WITNESS OFFERED BRIBE BY JUDGE

Girl Tells Jury She Saw Judge McCannon Shoot Garage Keeper.

By United Press Leased Wire
Cleveland, Ohio—The defense today started its attempt to shatter the prosecution of Judge William L. McCannon, chief justice of the Cleveland municipal courts, charged with second degree murder in connection with the slaying of Harold Kagy, garage proprietor.

McCannons attorneys said they would show that a man closely resembling McCannon did the shooting. Mrs. Henrietta Jouget, a witness for the defense, said she saw this "second mysterious third man" leave the scene of the shooting after first dropping a soft gra vhat and substituting for it a stiff black hat. McCannon today said he would take the stand in his own defense.

Cleveland, Ohio—The defense in the case of Judge Wm. L. McCannon, charged with second degree murder, subjected Miss Mary E. Nealey, star witness for the state, to a severe cross examination today in an effort to refute her charge that McCannon shot Harold Kagy, garage proprietor, last May.

Miss Nealey testified she saw the shooting and that McCannon offered her $500 to keep silent.

Miss Nealey, nurse, said she had known McCannon for a long time. Miss Nealey said McCannon and Kagy and another man were arguing in the street. Then McCannon pulled something from his pocket and a second later a shot rang out, she said. Kagy lurched and McCannon walked away, she said, putting something in his pocket, the witness said.

Since the time of the shooting, she and McCannon have had ten meetings, she said.

At the last one several days ago he

GEORGIA MURDER CASE DISMISSED

Women and Man Accused of Slaying "Peach King" Are Given Liberty.

Macon, Ga.—The three women and one man charged with poisoning Fred D. Shepard, Georgia peach king, were free today.

Judge Henry A. Matthews ordered the murder case against them dismissed because of conflicting testimony.

As he uttered his decision, Mrs. Pauline Elmer, who was Shepard's wife at the time of his death and who was one of those charged with killing him advanced to the center of the courtroom and cried:

"Jesus did not walk in the Garden of Gethsamene alone and I did not walk alone for He was with me."

Then she fainted.

The four accused persons were Mrs. Elmer, her son, Ernest Elmer, Mrs. Annie Cutts and Mrs. Ione Henry. They were alleged to have poisoned Shepard to control his wealth. Judge Matthews in rendering his decision to dismiss the four defendants, declared testimony of material witnesses as well as that of physicians as to the cause of Shepard's death was conflicting.

promised to give her $500 in new one hundred dollar bills if she told the grand jury she knew nothing of the affair, Miss Nealey said.

Her sister, Mrs. Louis T. Webb, was behind a curtain listening to the conversation, the witness said.

Miss Nealey said she had urged the judge to tell the police of the shooting sometime after the affair and claim that it was accidental. He refused, she said, on the grounds that it was too late. She said she then offered to take the blame for the shooting, but he said it was also too late for that.

RATE BOARD KEEPS UP WITH ITS WORK

Majority of Hearings Before Commission Involve Public Utilities.

(Special to Post-Crescent) Madison—The relatively small number of cases involving the railroads and the excessively large number of utility cases are noted as the two marked characteristics of the work of the Wisconsin Railroad Commission for the past two years as shown by the biennial report of the department.

The first is declared due to federal control of railroads and the second came about through economic conditions created by the war, forcing utilities to appeal for increased rates. The number of formal cases handled by the commission has shown a progressive increase as indicated by the table of cases filed by each six months period covered by this report.

For the six months ending December 31, 1918, 216, for the six months ending June 30, 1919, 293, for the six months ending December 31, 1919, 405, for the six months ending June 30, 1920, 508.

The report says: "In spite of being handicapped by the lack of adequate staff personnel, decisions rendered have kept pace with new cases filed. There were 278 open cases on the docket July 1, 1918, and 285 open on June 30, 1920, an increase of only 7 for the two year period. Of the pending cases 154 or more than half were filed since May 1.

During the month of June, 1920, there were 83 cases set for hearing which compares with only 408 set for the entire year 1919. There has been no suspension of hearings during the months of July and August as was formerly the practice. While no prediction can be made for the future, it is hoped that the peak has been reached. However, any present decrease in the number of utility cases arising will be more than offset by the increase in railroad cases that will follow the resumption of full private control and operation. Moreover as soon as market conditions begin to show a downward tendency there will be an increase in utility cases involving decreases in rates."

QUAKE AND TYPHOON WRECK ISLAND OF YAP

By United Press Leased Wire. Tokyo—A combined earthquake and typhoon has wrecked most of the buildings on the island of Yap, according to rather meagre advices reaching here today.

The island of Yap, which has figured much in the news of late, is in the Caroline island group and was seized from Germany early in the war by Japan. It formerly was the seat of the German governor of the Caroline Islands. It is important as a cable station, in a way being a key to cable communication on the Pacific. The island had a population of 7,500 persons when its last census was taken. Its area is only 79 square miles.

CLOSED FLOUR MILLS MUST HELP EMPLOYEES

By United Press Leased Wire. Topeka, Kans.—Flour mills in Kansas which have curtailed production, must take care of faithful and skilled men during the period of industrial depression so that these employees may provide a living for their families, the Kansas court of industrial relations ruled in an opinion today.

The court held that the flour mills which had curtailed production were not operating on such a small scale as to affect the public. The court held the mills had the right to curtail production because of market conditions over which they have no control. However, faithful employees must be taken care of, the court decided.

BOOK AGENT IS IN BAD WITH FARMERS

Unordered Books Sent C. O. D.
to Outagamie County Farmers.

Any honest-to-goodness book agent who goes soliciting in the country from now on will find orders coming very slowly. More than one farmer is "cussing" an agent who visited nearly all parts of the county last summer taking orders for a book issued by an eastern publishing house. Very few orders were given, but the books are arriving at homes of many persons by parcel post C. O. D.

The agent would usually approach the farmer and tell about his book. He would obtain the farmer's name even though he had no authority to take an order. The farmer would be told to telephone the agent at his hotel the evening if the book was not wanted.

Several hundred copies of the book have arrived at the Appleton post-office. They are presented to the addressee by the rural mail carrier but are refused in almost every case. The questionable methods used by the agent means considerable annoyance to both the postoffice and the farmers, because there is a painstaking procedure to go through in handling each C. O. D. shipment. Rural mail delivery is delayed considerably by the arrival of these unwelcome books just when the holiday rush is at its height. The majority must be returned to the publishing house.

"Y" DORMITORY MEN HAVE ENJOYABLE PARTY

Comedy by Paul H. Wright featured the dormitory men's Christmas party and supper Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Wright amused the guests by giving selections in four different dialects. Not satisfied with that, he gave an impersonation of people in different walks of life and how they would recite a certain well known "poem."

After Mr. Wright's oratorical program the men descended to the Y. M. C. A. lobby where they held a social confab until about nine o'clock, after which volley ball matches were staged between picked teams.

Santa Claus visited the Y. M. C. A. and distributed gifts to the guests. The men again assembled in the lobby for singing. Light refreshments were served.

MAY CHANGE RULES FOR COMPUTING INCOME TAX

A letter received by the chamber of commerce from Archibald Harris and company, Chicago, taxpayers, makes it appear that the government is making some important changes in its rulings regarding inventories as used for income tax purposes. The company's Washington office expects to send the new ruling as soon as issued by the government.

It was explained by Earl C. Bracken, Milwaukee manager of Archibald Harris and company, in an address here that the government would permit business houses to take inventory on a basis of what the goods cost, or on their market value. The new rulings may have some bearing on this phase of the inventory requirements.

Henry, Edward and Charles Holz and families left Wednesday morning for Colgate to attend the fiftieth wedding anniversary of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Holz.

The Congregational choir will meet at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening for a rehearsal.

Keep "Son" in Sunday

The cartoon in the Post-Crescent for Dec. 21, presenting the man in stocks for kissing his wife on Sunday, is worthy of our careful study. Which would you call this, a major or minor offense? Be as it may we must agree in those days men who were elected to office, had regard for the oath they took to enforce the whole law written in the Puritan Constitution.

The majority of men elected to office today regard their oath as a "scrap" of paper and "scrap" the oath immediately after it has been administered. The City in which we live, would be far better off if our laws were more stringently enforced. It is better to add stringency than laxity to our God given laws. We are responsible for the generation we are bringing up, shall we teach them to obey according to Law or Love?

Keep The Sun in Sunday

The above utterance is well said, but of ill meaning. Let us use the right noun in the proper place. It is the Son of God we must keep in Sunday. This gives us a bright, cheery, wholesome view of Life.

"Remember the Sabbath to keep it Holy," as I walk the streets of our City, I do not meet any man, whom I believe has surpassed God in intellect then, let us take God at his word and obey.

We commercialize the Sabbath by hunting, keeping open the pool halls and bowling alleys and theatres. The theatres are run for purely a financial gain. Let them run six days in the week, but also let them respect the Sabbath Day, the command of God and the law of our nation.

Let those who are openly and flagrantly breaking the law, become self respecting citizens by obeying the law made by the people of the greatest nation on earth.

A. L. McMillan.

"DRY" READING IS NOT POPULAR HERE

Appleton Library Needs More
Facilities for Youthful Readers.

There seems to be a general desire among adult Appleton people for fiction below the standard of choice literature. According to statistics from the public library, 32,550 of the 43,736 books taken from the building in the fiscal year ending June, 1920, were fiction. Of the 11,186 books of non-fiction which were taken from the library, approximately nine-tenths of them were taken by students who were required to read them.

"There are very few people who read non-fiction," said Miss Mary De Young, assistant librarian, "and those who do, take books that pertain to their position, people who feel that they are not quite efficient in their work. A stenographer, for instance, will call for a book on that subject; likewise an electrician will ask for a book that will enlighten him on some phase of electricity.

"A majority of people who read the non-fiction books are men," continued Miss De Young.

Several clubs in the city study non-fiction and the library is doing all it can to aid them. If it does not have a book which the club wants it is either borrowed or purchased.

Miss De Young thinks that people are not educated to read what is commonly called "dry" literature. She said, too, there are people who would like very much to read, but are afraid to go to the library and draw books.

"People are really appalled when we offer to get a book which they ask for when we haven't it here," said the assistant librarian. "They do not want us to go to all the 'bother' of buying a book. The people can not seem to realize that it is no bother, and that the library is a place for public service."

Miss De Young said that people should be taught when they are children to use the library and read the right kind of books.

"What we need for the children of Appleton is a large children's room. At present, with the small room we have, we cannot have a story hour or supervised reading for the children." There are approximately 4100 children of school age in the city and the library has a little alcove of about 12 feet 20 feet dimensions for them.

The assistant librarian said that not half of the children were using the library because there was not room for them. The library cannot conduct organized work with the schools because of the limited supply of books. It would be foolish, she thought, to go to the children and tell them there are good books in the world, but they were not in the Appleton library, and that the children need not come to look for them.

"When we can teach the children to read good literature, then will the circulation of that sort of books increase," said Miss De Young.

RED CROSS SEEKS MEN FOR MEDICAL SERVICE

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Madison—The American Red Cross is seeking a number of medical men desirous of enlisting for service among the children of eastern Europe. An appeal is being made to Wisconsin practitioners to enter this field.

The service is particularly suitable for recent graduates of hospitals who are more or less free to spend a year in the practice of their profession in Europe. The remuneration will be sufficient to represent an adequate salary and living expenses. All transportation will be furnished.

These men are needed within the next few weeks. Charles W. Berry, M. D., American Red Cross, 44 East 23rd street, New York city, is receiving applications.

The Red Cross is also in need of a few men who have had experience in pediatrics and public health work to take charge of groups of workers.

The American relief administration will give three garments and a pound of cake made from white flour to each child.

The American Red Cross will distribute clothing and condensed milk to 40,000 children in orphanages and hospitals.

President Mainische will attend an American Christmas tree celebration in Belvidere palace.

Chester Smith, Ray Schommer and George Meyers, who have been at Albuquerque, New Mexico, for several weeks, left for Los Angeles, Calif., early this week, where they expect to spend the remainder of the winter.

Francis Chase and Peter Taylor, who left here with the trio two months ago, are still at Omaha, Neb., where they secured good positions.

CLERKS FINISH JOB BEFORE GOING HOME

Tuesday was a record day at the postoffice for the amount of mail handled, but the force is still holding its own. Most of the clerks worked until after midnight on outgoing mail. The postoffice was completely cleared of everything from packages to postal cards when the sacks were loaded for the south-bound train leaving at two o'clock in the morning.

Incoming mail is becoming heavier with the arrival of each train, but the carriers are still able to keep deliveries ahead of the new mail reaching the postoffice. The force is working on a policy of staying on the job until the office is empty.

ST. PAUL TEAM LOSES TO COLLEGE QUINTET

Northwestern college sophomores showed the St. Paul team some real basketball Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. The Appleton boys did not have a chance against the superior team work of the visiting team, losing by a score of 37 to 15.

At the end of the first half the score stood 12 to 16 with St. Paul team on the short end. They were only four points behind them, and that was the closest the St. Pauls ever got to their opponents.

The visitors were entertained by St. Paul Young Peoples' society at the school hall after the game.

SPLIT IN FARE FIGHT SEEN IN GREEN BAY

Green Bay—The city government will stick to its original recommendations in the street car fare situation here, it was announced at the city hall. The city attorney, Fred D. Merrill, and Byron T. Gifford, consulting engineer, originally recommended to the state railroad commission that street car fares be collected on a sliding scale. The commission granted the increase to a 10 cent cash fare. Then the citizens' committee under the leadership of Senator Timothy Burke protested and was granted a rehearing. But the city government sticks to its original position.

FORCE MERCHANTS TO LOWER PRICES

Beaver Dam Workers Threaten to Establish Co-operative Store.

Beaver Dam—Unless there is a sharp reduction in food prices by local merchants, 841 employees of three large factories here threaten to open a cooperative store. An ultimatum to this effect has been sent to the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, charging that it controls the prices of necessities in Beaver Dam. The men, employees of the Malleable Iron Range Co., the Western Malleable Co., and the Weyenberg Shoe Co., have appointed a committee to push their demands. The letter, signed by Carl E. Schiettrumpf, August Michael and Eugene Rice, says, in part:

"There is a very prevalent belief that the prices of necessities are being controlled by the Merchants and Manufacturers' association. Whether or not this is true, it is undoubtedly the prices being charged in Beaver Dam are higher than those prevailing in cities of a similar size in this state.

"We now request that you call a meeting with a view to taking steps to remedy this evil. We hope that a proper reduction may be made promptly by the merchants of this city, but if this is not at once carried into effect it is our intention to request the proper authorities to investigate fully.

ANOTHER CAGE LEAGUE TO BE ORGANIZED HERE

PROMOTE PEACE BY SPREADING NEWS

Begin Hearings on Resolutions to Send Messages by Naval Wireless.

Washington.—American commerce will be increased and world peace promoted if communication facilities between the United States and other nations are enlarged, members of the house merchant marine committee said today.

The committee today opened hearings on the Britten resolution which seeks to aid communication by promoting the use of naval wireless for transmitting news.

"What the countries of the world need most today is to understand each other," said Representative Ricketts, Ohio.

"It is obvious that if the countries did understand each other there would be less opportunity for disputes that lead to war.

"Public opinion is largely formed from what appears in newspapers and consequently it is vitally important that newspaper readers of foreign countries read all the American news it is possible to get them."

Representative Curry, republican, California, declared his support of the resolution.

IMPOSTER GETS BRIDE AND CASH

By United Press Leased Wire Jacksonville, Fla.—After posing as Eddie Rickenbacker, the famous American ace, and marrying Frances Hannan, one of Jacksonville's prominent society girls, and victimizing a number of prominent men of hundreds of dollars, an unidentified man disappeared for parts unknown taking with him his bride of two days and cash estimated at more than $2,000.

The imposter was elaborately entertained at clubs and social functions. Several days ago he arrived in Jacksonville. Two days afterward he met Miss Hannan, daughter of a prominent businessman, and they announced their engagement. The same night they went to St. Augustine, where they were married.

While here, he signed a contract with W. M. Farans, said to be sales manager of a manufacturing company of Philadelphia, appointing him manager of the Stutz Motorcar company at a salary of $25,000 a year.

After the appointment was accepted the imposter borrowed $1,000 from Farans.

CHILD DECIDES TO STAY WITH MOTHER

Governor Philipp Refuses to Honor Requisition From Indiana.

By United Press Leased Wire Madison, Wis.—Governor Philipp today refused to honor a requisition from the state of Indiana for the return to Valparaiso, Ind., of Mrs. Gladys Crocker and little Pauline Pillman, her daughter.

Mrs. Crocker is the first wife of Frank Pillman, who is fighting to regain custody of little Pauline. Pauline appeared before the governor with her mother and her mother's attorneys. The governor listened to the arguments of the lawyers and then decided to leave it to the child to decide.

"Who do you like best, your mother or father?" the governor asked Pauline.

"My mamma," came the reply. It was settled.

The Indiana officers were told they could not claim the mother and child. Pauline is six. Recently she was taken from a school in Racine, where her mother now lives, and taken to Indiana. The mother, on learning that the child had been kidnapped, went to Indiana and "stole" the child back.

TRAGEDY OF WOODS SHOWN BY RELIC

Interlocked Antlers Found in North Believed Cause of Dual Buck Death.

(Special to Post-Crescent.)
Madison—Evidence of not only a terrible death struggle, but of a dual death which occurred, probably several years ago, has been deposited in the capitol.
Hunters in the woods in Bayfield county recently discovered two sets of antlers, presumably of bucks 4 or 5 years old, interlocked so that even at this late date it is impossible to separate them unless they be broken. Not only were the antlers found about they are still attached to the skulls of the deer. It is presumed here that they were found in a swamp as they are in a wonderful state of preservation, and almost snowy white, indicating that they have been in the water for a long time.
The perfectly formed antlers are not wedged tightly together, but in the grim death struggle between the two bucks, had become interlocked so it was impossible for them to free themselves. Whether one of the animals had succeeded in pawing the

Now the prohibition agents have amputated their "booze."
On New Year's eve a government liquor hound will be at the doors of all cafes and cabarets looking for hip pocket and "first national bank" bars. The amber fluid is to be confiscated, and the joy taken from the party.
Furthermore, issuance of doctors' prescription books will be held up from Dec. 24 until after the first of the year. The motto here today is: "Shop early and spend New Year's eve at home."

FACTS ABOUT TANLAC ARE GIVEN TO PUBLIC

Special Representative Tells
Why It Has Become Most Talked of Medicine in World Today.

NO GREAT MYSTERY
ABOUT IT, HE SAYS

Merit Alone Has Confirmed
It in the Minds of the People All Over the American Continent.

W. B. Logan, special representative in the State of Wisconsin for Tanlac, the medicine that has created such a sensation all over the United States and Canada, gives some highly interesting facts about Tanlac and the remarkable results achieved by it.
"Contrary to popular opinion," he stated, "there is no great mystery about Tanlac, except in so far as the chemistry of the human body itself and what it does with substances taken into it is a mystery. Some of the ingredients of Tanlac have been known and used as medicines for centuries. Others are of more recent discovery, but every one of them is of recognized therapeutic value and used by the medical profession everywhere. Tanlac is simply a co-mingling of these medicinal elements in a way hitherto unknown and which brings out their curative and reconstructive powers to an exceptional degree. Briefly, it always irritation of the stomach, strengthens the digestive and assimilative organs, builds up and revitalizes the whole system, and gives the body new powers of resistance and strength. Gratifying gains in weight are not uncommon, especially where a person has suffered from under-nourishment brought on by dyspepsia, indigestion, illness, operation or other causes.
"It is a demonstrated fact in medical science that the stomach is the starting point of most of the ills that afflict the human body, and many of the so-called diseases are not diseases at all, but reflex symptoms of the stomach derangements of the weakened condition of the body that naturally follows. Some kinds of rheumatism, gastritis, palpitation, nervousness, kidney disorders and liver complaints are among the more common troubles developed through the stomach. Scores of other diseases have been traced to the same source.

"Tanalac was made especially to overcome these stomach complaints and the various so-called diseases and symptoms that follow them, but the astonishing reconstructive powers revealed by it have not only astonished the general public, but have somewhat surprised even the originators of the medicine themselves. Thousands of letters reach the Tanlac offices from all parts of North America telling of remarkable results derived by people who have suffered for years without being able heretofore to find relief.

"Naturally, these remarkable achievements have spread the fame of Tanlac to all quarters of the continent, and the demand for it has necessitated working the laboratories night and day.
"The tremendous popularity of Tanlac grows steadily instead of diminishing and can be explained in only one way—merit. Its remarkable restorative effects seem to be more permanent than hitherto believed possible. Thousands of persons who took it when it was first introduced five years ago report that they are still enjoying excellent health, and millions of American homes are now using Tanlac as the family medicine after having first tried it out thoroughly."

Tanalac is sold in Appleton by John J. Volt; F. O. Brown, Shiocton; Dr. J. M. Sattler, Bear Creek; H. E. Abend, Dale; R. E. Lowell, Little Chute.

MANY CANDIDATES SEEK STATE JOBS

Governor-Elect Blaine Expects to Make Clean-up in Madison.

Madison, Wis.—Candidates are multiplying for important appointments in the state service to be made by Gov.-elect John J. Blaine. Mr. Blaine has announced that the disposition is to make a clean sweep and get as much new blood as practicable and wise into the offices.

A rumor that Burt Williams, federal internal revenue collector at Milwaukee was likely to be appointed to the state tax commission in place of Nils P. Haugen was described as having no basis. There is no obligation to appoint a democrat for this place, and it was said that the idea that Mr. Blaine would pick a member of the Wilson administration for this important office was ridiculous.

It became known that Charles D. Ross of Beloit is being urged for the tax commission place. He was twice a member of the assembly, was the La Follette floor leader, specializing on taxation, and carried the brunt of the Blaine campaign in southern Wisconsin. He was formerly judge of the Municipal court in Beloit, and in the last primary campaign was a candidate for congress in the First district.

Another possibility for the tax commission place is Douglas Anderson formerly of Rhinelander, now in the federal internal revenue service. He was a member of the legislature, a La Follette leader and an advocate of taxation measures that were looked upon as radical.
A. J. Myrland of Grantsburg, present secretary of the state tax commission, also is mentioned for a commission. Years ago he served as a member of the state board of university regents under a La Follette appointment.

COURT SAYS WITNESS CANNOT SHARE ESTATE

Racine—Judge M. S. Sheridan in a decision filed in probate court of Racine county here Tuesday denied the right of Mrs. T. J. Hahn to share in the estate of Theodore Johnson, who died here in 1917, leaving an estate valued at $90,000.

The decision refuses to admit the will to probate and orders that the estate go to the heirs of Mr. Johnson, most of whom reside in Norway. The decision also states that Mrs. Hahn is not a lawful heir.

The decision was based on a law which provides that a subsisting will need to a will cannot benefit by the will unless there are two other such witnesses. In this case the only other witness was a brother-in-law of Mrs. Hahn.

A year after Mr. Johnson's death Mrs. Hahn filed for probate a will which she testified she had found in a trunk at her home. The lower court at that time refused to admit the will to probate and the case was carried to the state supreme court. That court recognized Mrs. Hahn as executrix and ordered the estate turned over to her and fixed her bond at $100,000.

Following the decision of Judge Sheridan, Mrs. Hahn will again appeal.

HEAR ARGUMENTS ON STOCKYARDS SALE

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Arguments on the method of removing the stockyards from control of the big meat packers was heard by Justice Stafford in the District of Columbia supreme court today.

Leader Kresel, assistant to Attorney General Palmer, attacked the packers' plan, charging that it would be a violation of the anti-trust laws. Under this plan, the yards would be turned over to a holding company whose stock would be sold by a syndicate.

Kresel urged the court to appoint trustees to sell the yards.
Attorney Douglas, representing the packers, said some of the yards are not profitable and that, consequently holding companies would have to be formed unless the unprofitable yards were scrapped, involving loss to their owners. Douglas asked the court to grant time for the packers to obtain the services of a syndicate before withdrawal of the H. F. Prince company of Boston, which had first offered to take over the yards.

OBJECTS TO WORD "HUN"; GETS TAR AND FEATHERS

By United Press Leased Wire
Jacksonville, Fla.—Police today were investigating the kidnapping of John D. Bischoff, real estate operator, who was dumped from a closed automobile at one of Jacksonville's busiest corners last night dressed only in a suit of underwear and a coat of tar and feathers.
Several days ago Bischoff sent a letter to the publisher of the Jacksonville Metropolis, objecting to the use of the word "hun" in a news dispatch printed in the paper and stating among other things that such dispatches were detrimental to a friendly relationship with Germany. Police believe citizens objecting to Bischoff's attitude toward the publication of the dispatch took this means of showing their displeasure.

MANY CLUBS WANT MACK'S INFELDER

Athletic's Manager Has Made
Real Ballplayer Out of Young Joe Dugan.

Wise old Connie Mack who handles the things for the "A's" in the American League, got together a crack squad of yearlings last year.

If Mack wanted to scrap his gang of youngsters like he did his wonder team a few years ago he wouldn't have to hunt for buyers.

But the crafty gentleman of Quakerstown is a standpatter on his present lineup.

Main Cog
The most sought after player in either league this winter is one of the main cogs of the Athletic machine with which Connie plans to bring an other pennant to Philadelphia in the near future.

The player that is attracting the other managers is Joe Dugan, the flashy shortstop with the slender build and the good batting eye.

Both Chicago and New York have tried in vain to get Mack to trade or sell his brilliant infielder.

Mack Needs Him
Kid Gleason needs a shortstop of Dugan's caliber in the rebuilding of his riddled ball club. But Mack refused the Kid's overtures.

Miller Huggins next slipped quietly into Philadelphia, prepared to swap half his Yankee club for Joe. The only rise he got out of Connie was that Dugan wasn't on the market, as he needed him to transact certain business for the Athletics next summer around the infield.

College Boy
"If the players I have under contract will only give me all they are worth," says Connie, "we will build up a strong club to represent the city in the American League."

Dugan is a Holy Cross product. He is a good fielder, covers a lot of ground, hits the ball hard, and, great of all, Joe's got the old pep.

Connie's Principle
So that's that. Mack is mighty sweet on his shortstopper, but of course if the proper bait is produced Dugan might yet change uniforms.

Connie's principle in building ball clubs is to pick 'em young and teach 'em. He isn't in baseball for the purpose of annexing castoffs or misfits from other clubs. He has made Dugan into a corking good infielder for his own ball club — not somebody else's.

CHARLEY HERZOG IS UNDER CLOUD

Veteran Cub Infielder Is Given Whitewash But Is Still in Bad.

There's something a wee bit queer in the case of Charley Herzog, Chicago Cub infielder.

Charged openly by Rube Benton of offering him a sum of money to throw a ball game, Herzog has been resting under a cloud. At the gathering of the wise men in the east John Heydler completely exonerated the Cub infielder.

This sort of half way clears the matter up, but President Veeck of the Chicago club says that waivers have been asked on Charley and if he is released "we will tell him why when the time comes."

Veeck also says that there is absolutely nothing against Herzog as regards his honesty.

Herzog is gratified to be given a clean slate by the National League proxy, but he'd kinda like to know what the "why" is that Veeck says he'll announce "when the time comes."

It looks like Herzog escaped one cloud only to be again plunged into the mists.

He is a veteran of 14 years and wasn't up to his usual stride last year after a serious accident during spring training.

Yet the fact remains that a cloud is hanging over him still.

George Holmon of Sheboygan was here on business Tuesday.

Why Demand For Kozak Is So Big

No other medicine has been quite as successful or the demand so great in such a short time as Kozak, the "10,000 Formula." In Wisconsin alone thousands of its residents are now taking Kozak and expressing an abiding faith in its powers as a superior preparation. The sale has been unprecedented. The reason is obvious — clear. Kozak contains real merit. It seems to appeal to the lost people Kozak accomplishes actual results. One tells others and soon its fame is spread like wildfire. Kozak is proving its remarkable powers to overcome disordered stomach, kidneys, liver, upset nerves, lost appetite, debility and catarrh. The demand will even grow greater.

Kozak sold by Schintz Bros exclusively. Neenah, Marsh Bros. Kaukauna, Kaukauna Drug Co, New London, Spearbreaker.

$60,000,000 PAID TO WATCH MARYLAND RACES

Baltimore, Md.—At the fall meetings of the four, one mile race tracks of Maryland, $35,000,000 passed through the pari-mutuel machines during the sixti-nine days of racing according to figures disclosed by the state race commission on Tuesday.

The commission did not begin operations until after the spring season was over, but conservative estimates for the entire racing year (110 days) place the amount at $60,000,000.

The total net earnings of the four tracks for the fall season, according to their statement to the commission, were $1,149,857 before deductions for new construction, equipment and repairs were made, and $617,002 after the deductions.

The commission applied the pruning knife to the deduction accounts heavily. It reduced the yearly salary of James F. O'Hara, general manager of the Bowie track, from $20,000 to $10,000, and that of C. D. Bryan, his assistant, from $15,000 to $5,000. An item of $8,300 for Bowie directors' fee was cut to $1,300.

Besides a tax of $6,000 a day for every racing day the state collects 15 per cent of the net earnings of the racetracks.

LAST MINUTE RALLY WINS FOR MENASHA

Three sensational baskets in the last two minutes of play saved the Menasha Printing and Carton company basketball team of Menasha from defeat at the hands of the Fond du Lac Ruyingus in Twin City armory Tuesday night. Wal. Menasha star tossed in the counters and gave the Menasha quint a 29 to 18 victory over the Fond du Lac outfit.

Giedinski, former Ripon college star, who is now coaching the leather company team, was the whole works for the losers. He played a whale of a game on the floor and tossed in a majority of the baskets.

The game was witnessed by an excellent crowd in spite of bad weather conditions. Both teams played sterling basketball and the game was close at all times.

MARTIN ZOLL BIDS FOR STATE MAT CHAMPIONSHIP

Martin Zoll, Green Bay, brother of the mighty Carl Zoll, will have a chance at the middleweight wrestling championship of the state when he goes on the mat with Henry Stofft in Oshkosh Saturday afternoon. Stofft claims the championship as a result of his victory over George Brundage a few weeks ago.

Zoll has wrestled here two or three times and made a good impression on the fans. He is fast but is lacking in experience. Stofft, however, is not a veteran of the mat and a good bout should be offered Oshkosh fans.

"Human Crab" Has Learned How To Control His Tongue

Johnny Evers Is Meek As Any of 'Em But He Still Has Fighting Heart.

New York—He was built like a bantam with the inclinations of a game cock. He had a voice like a fog horn and a tongue like a knife. He had the pointed chin and square jaw of a fighter and he was.

He was the Human Crab. Umpires feared him and players gave him a wide field. Home town fans threatened him. Managers fined him and the league chiefs suspended him.

He was the Fighting Trojan. In a thirteen year trip down the major league pikes, Johnny Evers left a wake of fire and brimstone.

His fights became history just as much as his brilliant playing record. The books record him as the middle member of the famous "Three" to Evers to Chance combination.

The fans remember him as a two fisted bundle of pep and energy with a safety valve always popping and an inclination to back up anything he said.

That was Johnny Evers when he stepped out of his spiked shoes and went over" with the Knights of Columbus.

Another Johnny Evers has taken over the management of the Chicago Cubs in baseball's latest attempt at a comeback.

The same bony Evers frame will fill the old Cub uniform, the same fighter's heart will beat under the old C that he wore to fame and the same wise baseball brains will work inside the old Chicago cap. But the kick is gone out of his tongue.

The Trojan had a manager's chance in 1913 with the Cubs but he failed.

"I talked too much and I crabbed too much," he reasoned before one of the 1919 world's series games in Cincinnati, when he was a member of the United Press "series staff."

"I have a bad name and I'm afraid it's going to keep me out of baseball now that my active days are over. Club owners are afraid of me. Manager's jobs are open, but I'm considered a risk. I've learned a good lesson. If I ever get another chance I'll show 'em."

He got his chance last spring when Manager McGraw offered him a contract as coach and assistant manager of the Giants and he showed 'em. Seeing the return of the volcano to the diamond, John Heydler, the National league chief, sent for him.

In so many words he gave him an ultimatum:

"Keep your mouth shut and lay off my umpires."

Amusement registered from the eyes from which a similar remark in the old days would have brought a glare of battle.

The old caustic tongue framed meek words:

"I won't give you any trouble." Johnny then made his debut in a Giant uniform. That very day one of the umpires was "off on balls and strikes." The Giants were howling and the dugout lair of McGraw was emitting rumbles and grumbles.

Johnny walked out between innings to take his place along the third base line. "Get on 'im, Johnny," a fan yelled from the stands.

"Listen, I'm not saying a word from now on. Look at me and see a mummy," he answered.

With a few pardonable exceptions, he didn't say a word all through the season. He handled the club frequently when McGraw was away and he dodged a fight with the umpires.

New York fans couldn't believe it at first but they came to realize that the "Crab" and the "Battler" had learned self-control.

The club owners realized it also. Johnny is back in the game.

Miss E. Peters of Madison, is spending the holidays with Appleton friends.

Play at Little Chute
The Vocational school basketball team plays the Little Chute team at Watry's hall at Little Chute Wednesday evening. As the Little Chute team has won several games an interesting battle is anticipated.

FEW ELIGIBLE FOR QUEEN OF BRITAIN

Prince of Wales Is Advised to Hunt for Wife Outside of Royal Houses.

(Special to Post-Crescent.)
London—All England is beginning to wonder which way the winds of love are going to blow for the Prince of Wales. Many, no doubt will, and Britain expects an announcement soon.

The prince has two alternatives: 1. To follow tradition and marry a girl of royal blood, or 2. To let Dan Cupid lead him where he may, and marry the girl he really loves.

Public sentiment in England seems to have turned about face and no longer feels that the consort of a prince needs to be of royal blood. The London Times, in fact, editorially advised the Prince of Wales to "avoid entering into marriage with a foreign princess to avoid a political marriage, and to marry for love."

American Eligible.
If he follows the Times' advice it is possible the Prince of Wales might come to America for a wife. A marriage with an American girl would probably be looked upon with favor in British government circles, though there is said to be a strong sentiment in England that the prince marry an English girl.

On the other hand, the visit of King Christian of Denmark to England, has strengthened rumors that the beautiful young Princess Margaret of Denmark, his cousin, is to be England's future queen.

Princess Margaret appears the only probability in the royal blood alternative.

But even in her case, there is a drawback. No English prince can marry a Roman Catholic without forfeiting his right to succession to the crown, and Princess Margaret, though belonging to a Protestant reigning house, has been brought up a Roman Catholic. She would have to renounce the Roman Catholic church in order that the marriage take place.

Choice Limited.
Because none but a Protestant can become queen of England, because it is inconceivable that a prince of England should marry any member of the royal family of any country with which England was recently at war, and because no prince of England ever marries a member of any royal house which has been deposed by its former subjects, the prince, in a royal blood way, is very limited in his choice of a spouse.

King Christian of Denmark has no daughters and his two sisters are too old for the Prince of Wales. He has, however, two nieces, the daughters of his brother, Harold, and his cousin, the Princess Margaret, now mentioned as the future queen.

WILL TEST COWS IN LINCOLN COUNTY

State Inaugurates Campaign to Drive Tuberculosis Out of County.

(Special to Post-Crescent.)
Madison—Lincoln County is the next Wisconsin area to be cleared of tuberculosis among cattle. It is the policy of the state department of agriculture to take a county at a time from which to eradicate the disease.

In Lincoln county during the months of October and November the state department of agriculture tested 424 herds containing 4,279 cattle. Only eighteen reactors were found, indicating 42 of one per cent of tuberculosis among these herds. This is a wonderfully clean record and corresponds to a similar record in Barron County where only .32 of one per cent was shown during approximately the same period. This preliminary work in Lincoln county was accomplished with one inspector of the department and is the introduction to a complete clean-up of the county which will be carried forward during the winter. The area test work is in charge of Dr. J. P. West, assistant state veterinarian of the state department of agriculture.

Reports from tuberculosis eradication by the area test method in Barron county, conducted by the livestock sanitary division of the state department of agriculture during November, by six field men, show that 641 herds containing 9,707 cattle were tested and disclosed 81 reactors. The total number of cattle tested during the month average only .93 of one per cent of tuberculosis. This shows a clean condition of the cattle in Barron county and corresponds to the results from the past seven months work in that county.

DAUGHERTY RUNS G. O. P. BY PHONE

Harding's Campaign Manager Is Now King Pin of Republican Party.

(Special to Post-Crescent.)
Columbus, O.—While President-elect Harding confers at Marion with the country's "best minds," Harry M. Daugherty, his closest personal and political friend, runs the republican party by long distance telephone from Columbus.

Many of the "best minds," interested primarily in policies, and hundreds of other minds concerned solely with getting on the payroll, are following literally the tip: "See Daugherty."

Looks Like a Youngster.
Daugherty gives the impression of being a young man. His clothes are of latest cut; his neckwear snappy; his face always clean-shaven and his nails carefully manicured. He has a hearty laugh that is infectious.

He radiates good cheer and good humor. He looks like an athlete. He's never known what it is to be sick.

But Daugherty isn't young in years. He's 60 years old.

Thirty years ago Daugherty began being the storm center of Ohio republican politics. Since that time he's made more intense enemies and more staunch friends than any other Ohio politician.

While he hasn't gotten office for himself, Daugherty unquestionably has made everybody, enemies as well as friends, recognize that he is a master mind when it comes to political planning and execution.

For more than twenty-five years President-elect Harding and Daugherty have been as close as brothers. Daugherty tells how they first met.

"I was billed for a speech in the little town of Richmond and arrived late

Five Double Holidays And 53 Paydays In 1921

Wettengel and Wettengel Calendar is Sprinkled With Holidays.

Hurrah for Father Time! Not only did he give us five double holidays in 1921 but he is doing the same thing in 1922. The new calendar which Wettengel and Wettengel is mailing to Northwestern Mutual policyholders shows that five eventful days of the year fall on Sunday or the day after.

Some of the months have many red lettered days. April leads them all, with 13 days marked in bright colors and their significance pictured with special drawings. Others have six, seven, eight or more. Some are holidays, but not legally so and therefore not observed.

Father Time will also fatten the pocketbooks of those who call for their precious envelope on Saturdays. The year 1921 has 53 Saturdays instead of the usual 52, so the year will produce at least one extra payday for a large number.

Appleton's gentler sex probably can't wear new spring suits or coats, silk stockings or pumps at Easter this year. March, the demon month for weather, has Easter Sunday within its grasp. Easter was in April this year and usually falls in that month, but it is fully a week earlier in 1921, coming on March 27.

Birthday anniversaries of Benjamin Franklin, Daniel Webster, Robert E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson and William McKinley are observed in January. Signing of the Emancipation Proclamation, and the Battle of New Orleans in 1815 were January events, but 1921 will contain a new date that goes down prominently in the annals of history. It is the anniversary of the death of Theodore Roosevelt on Jan. 6.

Some forlorn maidens will probably regret that February hasn't that extra day in 1921 when "she" can pop the question, but the month is not without its significance. Ground hog day stands out boldly to keep us guessing about the length of winter. Ash Wednesday, the opening of lent, falls on Feb. 9. Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays and St. Valentine day also come within the span of 23 days. March has its usual historical anniversaries and will include all the church holidays connected with Easter. Events of the late war are shown in April, including our declaration of war with Germany on April 6 and the firing of the first shot on April 26, 1917.

The Yanks' first big victory at Cantigny is remembered on May 28. Memorial day falls on Monday, giving a two-day holiday over Sunday and Monday. May 18 is designated as "peace day," and May 7 commemorates the sinking of the Lusitania in 1915.

Many doughboys will be reminded on June 26 that the first American troops reached France on that day in 1917. The great Italian victory on the Austrian front is remembered on May 24.

July not only gives a double holiday because Independence day falls on Monday, but also recalls an event of the great war in the American successful counter attack at Chateau Thierry on July 18, 1918.

One of the darkest days in history stands in bold relief on the August page. It is the first day, when the World war began in Europe in 1914. Pershing's successful drive on the St. Mihiel salient on Sept. 12 and the surrender of Bulgaria on Sept. 30 in 1918 gives September two days of special significance. Labor day falls on Sept. 5.

October has seven important historical days, including the discovery of

EARL SCHWARTZ TO BE UNDERSHERIFF

Sheriff-Elect Peter Schwartz Selects Son to Be His Assistant.

P. G. Schwartz, sheriff-elect, who enters upon his new duties Jan. 1, 1921, has selected his son, Earl Schwartz, who has been employed as a machinist in the city for the last year, as undersheriff. He has not yet selected his deputies and does not expect to announce them until after he has been sworn in.

The new sheriff expects to move into the county jail shortly after New Year's. He has leased his residence at 946 Sixth street, to Oscar Gmear, who will take possession as soon as it is vacated. For the last year Mr. Schwartz has been employed at the Outagamie Equity Exchange and is a blacksmith by trade. He moved here from Mackville, where he made his home for several years.

V. R. Rule the retiring sheriff, has not announced his future plans.

America on the 12th in 1492. Austria's surrender on the 3rd and armistice day on the 11th make November a cherished month as the calendar reminds one of these epochs of the great war. Thanksgiving comes one day earlier than this year, falling on the 24th.

Christmas falls on Sunday in 1921 but will be observed on Monday, so everybody will have two days of celebration. The New Year day following will also be on Sunday. A glimpse further ahead shows that Christmas and New Year's in 1922 will be on Monday, affording a double holiday.

1 CENT A FOOT FOR CLEANING WALKS

City Will Clean Snow From Walks But Charges Cost to Owners.

It will cost property owners one cent a foot each time their sidewalk is cleared of snow by the city this winter and the amount will be charged up in the taxes. This is the same price that was charged last year and the amounts ranged all the way from 10 cents up to $126. It cost several residence owners from $30 to $40 to have the city clean their walks last winter.

"The city would much prefer to have property owners clean their own walks," said O. F. Welgerber, street commissioner, "as it would give our men more time to put on opening of crosswalks and streets. The work has to be done and if the property owners neglect to do it why then it is up to the city to see that they are kept free from snow."

Property owners in the suburbs are the ones upon whom the greatest burden falls. There are several stretches of sidewalk of from 500 to 1,000 feet which cost the abutting property owner from $5 to $10 every time they are cleaned.
